CEASE-FIRE LINE AGREEMENT SIGNED

Council Sets Levies On Properties

Special Assessments For Street Projects Total $52,101

Nine ordinances authorizing levying of special assessments for street improvement projects were passed Monday night at a regular meeting of City Council. Total of the assessments is $52,101.53.

The largest single amount to be collected is $18,884.18 for construction of a sanitary and storm water sewer on Congress St. from Clinton St. to the first alley west of Parks Ave. Property will be assessed $5.12 a front foot and $67.70 for laterals. The assessments may be paid by the owners in full or in 10 semi-annual installments with interest at the same rate borne by the bonds.

Bonds will be issued in the amount of $11,745.85 to cover the cost of a sanitary and storm water sewer on Lutourette St. from Center St. to the first alley north of Bennett St. Property will be assessed $5.81 a front foot and $70.54 for laterals. The costs may be borne in one payment or the semi-annual installments. Assessments listed in the other ordinances may be paid in the same manner.

Cost of constructing a pavement on Johnson St. from Wilson Ave. to the north end of the street will be $5,924.66. Bonds will be issued in that amount. Assessments against property will total $2.58 a front foot. These assessments also may be paid in 10 installments.

Frederick St. Project

Bonds also will be issued to cover the $3,276.50 cost of installing a sanitary and storm water sewer on Frederick St. The sewer line runs from N. State St. directly east approximately 300 feet. Property will be assessed at the rate of $7.46 for each front foot. The lateral cost for each lot was set at $44.20.

Another ordinance authorized issuance of bonds in payment of a project on London St. It includes construction of a pavement from Main to Prospect St. and from Prospect to Oak. Cost of the portion between Main and Prospect was set at $1,109.30 while from Prospect to Oak St. cost was set at $3,006.08. Property in the first section will be assessed $1.04 a front foot while assessments on the other section will total $3.04 for each front foot. Tom S. Cathers, city engineer, said the difference in the cost on the sections was caused by a base needed for the pavement on the second section.

Cost of a sanitary and storm water sewer being constructed on Marshall St. will be $2,773.04. Another ordinance passed last night, authorizes the city to issue bonds in that amount. The sewer is being installed from Milburn Ave. east to the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad tracks. Property will be assessed $6.05 a front foot while cost of laterals was set at $35.84.

Uncapher Ave. Sidewalk

Bonds will be issued in the amount of $2,240.11 to cover the cost of constructing a sidewalk on the east side of Uncapher Ave. from Darius St. to Henry St. and on the south side of Darius St. from Uncapher Ave. to Henry St. An assessment of $2.21 for each front foot will be levied against the property on both streets.

An assessment of $8.28 for each front foot will be levied on property fronting on the sanitary and storm water sewer being constructed on York St. The line runs east from Lutourette St. for 250 feet and the total cost has been set $1,752.85.

The final street improvement approved at the meeting called for the issuance of bonds in the amount of $1,688.06 to cover cost of placing a pavement on Darlington Court from Foster Lane to McKinley St. Each property owner will be required to pay $1.70 for each front foot.

The nine ordinances all were approved by a unanimous vote of council.

Marion Soldier Member of Unique Outfit in Korea

Serves in "Purple Heart Platoon"

PFC. NORMAN E. LORD OF MARION is shown above, in the foxhole at center, with three other members of the First Calvary Division's "Purple Heart Platoon," which is made of men who have been wounded in action. They are running a .50 caliber machine-gun on a Korean hillside. In the foxhole with Pfc. Lord are Pfc. Robert E. Gibson of Omaha, Neb., left, and Pfc. George Choma of Bethlehem, Pa., right. Standing behind them is Sgt. Charles H. Miller of Port Washington, O.

A Marion soldier is serving in Korea with the "Purple Heart Platoon," a force made up entirely of men who have been wounded in action. The unit, which has been called one of the most unique platoons in Korea, stands guard day and night around the forward command post of the First Cavalry Division.

In the platoon is Pfc. Norman E. Lord, son of Mrs Mabel Lord of 550 N. State St., who was wounded on the left hand in Korea near Chunchon April 10. He returned to his division after recuperating at the 297th General Hospital at Osaka, Japan.

Pfc. Lord, 24, was employed at the Marion Engineer Depot for seven years before entering the service Sept. 8, 1950.

Men Hand-Picked

Members of the platoon, all of whom were hand-picked for the unit as a result of their combat records, man the long-barreled .50-caliber machine-guns and deadly bazookas that sprout from the hills all around the command post.

The platoon is led by 1st Lt John A. Delancy of Cambridge, Mass. It is charged with the security of the command post area and several pieces of vital equipment within the perimeter.

One of the proudest possessions of the platoon is an armored car located at the front entrance of the command post. The vehicle contains a box holding the personal flags of all the outstanding men who rode in the car when it led the 1st Cavalry Division on parade in Japan. General of the Army Douglas MacArthur's flag is there, along with those of many other military and civilian dignitaries who visited the division during its occupation duty in Japan.

Maintains Halftrack

The platoon also maintains a halftrack mounting four .50-caliber machine-guns as a lightning punch against any enemy attack. This type of equipment is not usual for a line platoon.

Three rifles and three weapons squads make up the platoon.

Area Company Bought By Swedish Firm

North Electric Co., With Galion, Kenton, Mt. Gilead Plants, Sold

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 27—A Swedish telephone concern has purchased controlling interest in the North Electric Manufacturing Company, it was announced today by the management of the company which has its main plant in Galion.

Statement by the management reads:

"The management of the North Electric Manufacturing Co. announces that shares of stock of the company, formerly held by the McBerty estate and others, were sold and as a result of the sale the North Electric Manufacturing Co. became affiliated with Telefonaktiebolaget L. M. Ericsson of Stockholm, Sweden.

Founded in 1876

"The Ericsson business was founded in 1876. The Ericsson companies are in the telephone business, both as a manufacturer of telephone equipment and as operators of telephone companies on a world-wide basis. The affiliation will provide Telefonaktiebolaget L. M. Ericsson with an interest in a telephone manufacturing business in the United States and will result in the membership of the North Electric Manufacturing Co. in the Ericsson group of companies."

Sale of the stock of the North Electric Company is a result of the settlement of the estate of the late F. R. McBerty, pioneer telephonic communications engineer and inventor who died Feb. 18, 1950.

North Electric manufacturers telephone parts and equipment. It has other plants in Kenton and Mt. Gilead.

Sale of Yule Seals Ahead Of Last Year

With $1,332 in Christmas Seal sales received already at the Marion County Tuberculosis and Health Assn. headquarters, the count is $300 ahead of the tally at the same date last year. This was revealed today by Mrs W. E. Miley, association executive secretary. She expressed appreciation for these early returns and urged that others send in the money for their stamps "before the Christmas rush begins."

Sheet of 100 stamps were mailed in the city and county Nov. 19. Proceeds from sales of the stamps go toward providing X-rays, clinics and health education here. This is the only source of support for the project of fight against tuberculosis by an organization interested in the health of each member of the community.

First Test Seen on New Gambling Tax

Three Judges To Decide if Law Is Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—The constitutionality of the new tax on gamblers gets what may be its first test today.

A special three-judge tribunal has been set up to hear the arguments presented in behalf of Hayes L. Combs, 41, that the law is unconstitutional.

The law went into effect Nov. 1. It requires all gamblers to buy a $50 occupation tax stamp and pay 10 per cent on their gross gambling income.

Combs wasted no time. His suit was filed Nov. 1.

In applying for the tax, Combs refused to answer all questions about his business address, his employers, his agents or his associates.

"The plaintiff is informed and believes," the suit said, "that the special tax stamp will not be issued to him because he has failed to answer the questions as above enumerated."

Didn't Get Stamp

Combs was right, too. His attorney, Myron Ehrlich, told a reporter today that even though Combs sent in his $50, he didn't get the stamp.

The failure to get the stamp, the suit said, would cause Combs "immediate and irreparable injury."

There are two counts in the suit.

The first asks the court to order the stamp issued to Combs without his having to answer the questions.

The second wants the defendants enjoined from disclosing any information they might get from Combs' answers. The defendants are the secretary of the treasury, the commissioner of

No Damage In Plant Fire

No property damage resulted from a fire which started this morning at the Universal Cooler Plant on Joseph St. when sparks from a cutting torch ignited dust particles in a large metal dust collector.

Workmen were wrecking the dust collector for scrap metal, as it is no longer in use. It stands in the factory yard near the south end of the main building.

Firemen from the Central and E. Mark St. stations answered the call at 8:50 a.m.

Star Knows of Fire Before Cooler Office

The Star today scored a beat on the office staff of the Universal Cooler plant with news of this morning's minor fire.

Hearing the fire alarm bell, a reporter telephoned the company with the conversation going something like this:

"Are you having a fire out there?"

"Why, I don't think so. Wait just a minute, I'll check."

(Pause).

Then, excitedly, "Yes, we are, but you'll have to call back. I have to call the fire department."

Firemen were already on their way, however.

The fire call, turned in earlier at a fire alarm box, rang a bell in The Star office which is connected with the fire department system. Each signal box rings a different number so the fire department can tell where it was turned in.

23 SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

Ferguson Claims Govt. Lost On Taft

Says Large Firms Backing Senator Ran Tax-Deductible Ads

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—Joseph T. Ferguson, Democrat who lost the 1950 Senate race to Republican Senator Taft of Ohio, said that Taft's campaign was partially subsidized by the government.

In a statement prepared for a Senate elections subcommittee, Ferguson declared the government "was cheated out of tax money" because large companies ran political advertising, deductible for tax purposes, which supported Taft's successful campaign for re-election.

The subcommittee yesterday heard Taft testify that labor and Democratic organizations spent three times as much for Ferguson as was spent for him. Taft said he thinks outlays in his behalf added up to about ten cents a voter.

Claims $5 Million Spent

Asserting that $5,000,000 had been spent by the Republicans in Ohio, Ferguson said there should be a law prohibiting large firms from charging the cost of political advertising to operational expense, making it "deductible for tax purposes."

"This sort of thing amounted to the government subsidizing part of Taft's campaign," he declared. "The government was actually cheated out of tax money that was used for a political candidate."

This idea of Ferguson's came as something new to subcommittee members already mulling over a series of suggestions made by Taft.

Taft, after mentioning the figure of ten cents a voter, said that was a little enough to offset what he called the "tissue of lies" he said was the basis of the campaign against him.

Senator Monroney (D-Okla) told a reporter he thinks it might be feasible to put a limit of ten cents per person on expenditures in a senatorial campaign, with a $25,000 maximum allowed in states with very small populations.

"If both sides in a senatorial campaign were limited to spending $250,000, they would get the job done and probably would prevent a lot of money being poured down a rathole," Monroney observed.

Approve Proposal

Monroney and Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) also approved a proposal by Taft to require that campaign literature be filed with a Washington official before it could be circulated.

Taft complained that "vicious"

GREETINGS BEFORE FIREWORKS STARTED. Republican presidential seeker Senator Robert A. Taft (left) greets Joseph T. Ferguson, Democratic candidate he defeated in the 1950 senatorial race in Ohio, at a hearing before the Senate election subcommittee in Washington. The subcommittee is investigating last year's campaign in which Taft was charged with spending huge "slush funds" to win his re-election. Taft charged later that President Truman is making a probe of his 1950 election as a "political smear weapon." Taft pointed out that he beat State Auditor Ferguson by a majority of 431,000 votes despite opposition by labor unions and what he termed "false front organization" in a campaign that "had a peculiar Communist undertone."

Dunlap Ready To Clean House

Promises Drive To Weed Out Errant Tax Employes

(Picture on Page 9)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—Commissioner John B. Dunlap of the Internal Revenue Bureau plans to let loose tomorrow with the biggest broadside yet in his announced drive to improve efficiency and weed out employes "who have betrayed their high trust."

A fully informed official declining to be quoted by name, told a reporter that several employes will be ousted from offices not yet publicly linked to the current series of firings in the tax collection service.

Dunlap will also announce final decisions on most of the 14 employes in San Francisco and New York who have been suspended pending investigations, this source said.

Word of these impending announcements was disclosed as a House ways and means subcommittee inquiring into the bureau's operations and related issues recalled T. Lamar Caudle (10 a.m. EST) to continue his account of the career which carried him to a spot as No. 1 U. S. prosecutor of tax cases.

Fired as assistant attorney general by President Truman two weeks ago, Caudle yesterday delivered an emotion-charged defense of his official life before the subcommittee.

Further Shakeups

The impending announcements of further bureau shakeups, it was learned, will be made by Dunlap. The official said Mr. Truman may be called upon to act in the case of James G. Smyth, suspended collector of San Francisco. The White House appoints collectors.

The action also may involve the Detroit office, where an investigation has been under way into reports of irregularities. It wasn't fully clear whether Dunlap will be ready by tomorrow for action in Detroit.

As for the new offices to be brought into the shake-up, Dunlap is said to feel the bureau should clean its own house, where it can, without waiting for investigations by grand juries or congressmen.

Altogether, more than 30 employes have been fired, suspended, or resigned, including six collectors. In many cases the bureau has placed some employes under

Not Done To "Spite Father"

Actions of AWOL Youth At Caledonia Explained

The management of the Farm and Home Lumber Co. of Caledonia revealed today that the son of an employe who attempted to set fire to the business place Friday did so in a misguided effort to attract attention to himself and perhaps win his release from the Air Force.

The 17-year-old youth, under neuropsychiatric treatment at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas, is a "war casualty" in a sense. Unadapted to service life, he has gone absent without leave from his base six times in the five months he had been in service.

The boy was AWOL when he attempted to set the blaze Friday. It was quickly discovered and quickly put out.

"Spite" Report Denied

The company took issue with the report of the fire by Deputy State Fire Marshal Thomas Finch of Green Camp. Finch's statement that the youth set the fire to spite his father was "entirely unfounded," the company said.

The youth and his father are on good terms. On the previous times the youth left his base without authorization, he went to his Caledonia home, and in each case the father reasoned with him to return to his base, sometimes accompanying him back to his unit.

The father had opposed the boy's entrance into service because of his youth, but when the boy kept up his entreaties, finally gave his consent.

Life in Service Disappointing

The boy's dreams of service life were soon shattered, and he was home in two weeks. The father talked him into returning, reasoning that once in, it was best to stick out his enlistment.

The boy, however, could not adjust to the "hurry up and wait" of service life, and went home again and again, each time being returned to camp by the father.

The sixth time the youth left

Still Differ On Details Of Armistice

Allies Insisting On Free Access To All Parts of Korea

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 27—(AP)—Truce negotiators signed a cease-fire line agreement today and immediately developed two vital differences on how to supervise an armistice in Korea.

United Nations delegates insisted on:

1. Joint Allied-Communist inspection teams with "free access to all parts of Korea."

2. Provision against military buildups by either side.

Neither point was included in a plan proposed by the Reds, who have never permitted outsiders in Communist Korea.

The differences developed in a session described by the top Allied negotiator as "short and sweet."

The full five-man negotiating teams—all in full dress except for two drably clad Chinese generals—approved a cease-fire line agreement opening the way for an armistice within 30 days. Then they plunged into the next truce question. That is supervision of an armistice. Each presented its own ideas.

Four Points

The two plans were in general agreement on four points: (1) Shooting to stop when an armistice is signed, (2) A joint commission to supervise the truce, (3) All forces to withdraw from the buffer zone and enemy territory after the armistice is signed, and (4) Armed troops to stay out of the buffer zone.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U.N. delegate, presented the seven-point Allied plan after hearing the Communist suggestions.

"We started the ball rolling by telling the Communists their proposal wasn't broad enough on the general principles (for supervision). Then we gave them an idea of what we wanted."

The Communists asked for an adjournment until 11 a.m. Wednesday (9 p.m. Tuesday, EST) to study the U.N. plan.

Fighting quieted along the frozen, 145-mile front as the full five-man truce teams met for the first time since Oct. 25. But the air war flared with two deadly jet battles. Allied air forces reported one U.S. Shooting Star and four Red jets were shot down, and two Red planes damaged.

Christmas-Like

The day's truce conference, set in a Christmas-like landscape in the snow of Panmunjom, opened with a series of agreements on a provisional cease-fire line—first by the staff officers who drew the line on a 14-foot map, then by subcommittees which had argued over a buffer zone for more than three months, and finally by the full truce delegations.

The truce teams also ok'd a buffer zone agreement, making the line the cease-fire line if a full agreement is signed within 30 days.

The agreement does not halt the fighting. Agreement first must be reached on three other clauses—supervision of the armistice, exchange of prisoners, and recommendations to governments.

Each can be as troublesome as the cease-fire line, the first and only armistice clause approved since negotiations first met July 10.

Admiral Joy sought to speed settlement of the remaining points by proposing each side begin now compiling necessary data on the exchange of prisoners.

The Reds made no reply and

Hold Hearing On Defense Bottlenecks

Watchdog Group Quizzes Mobilizer Wilson on Shortages

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—A congressional watchdog committee on defense production called defense mobilizer Charles E. Wilson today to explain key shortages.

Senator Maybank (D-SC), chairman of the Senate-House defense production group, told reporters the lawmakers wanted to know:

1. Why there is a lag in production of aircraft and other armaments and what can be done about shortages of steel, aluminum, copper and other materials.

2. How more steel and other construction materials can be earmarked for schools, highways and hospitals. The committee was told yesterday that additional allocations of steel for the first quarter of next year will permit continuation on about 1,400 school projects under way and the start of about 500 more.

Maybank at first said Wilson would testify behind closed-doors because military secrets may be involved.

Later he said reporters and the public will be admitted, as they were yesterday when price administrator Michael V. DiSalle and national production administrator Manly Fleischmann testified.

Maybank told newsmen he was not satisfied with increased allocations of steel for schools, hos-

Yanks Down Four MIG's

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 27—(AP)—Four Communist MIG-15 jets and a U. S. F-80 Shooting Star were shot down in two battles today in a fierce flareup of the air war over northwestern Korea.

Two MIGs were damaged in Tuesday's double-barreled action. The figures were reported by the U. S. Fifth Air Force.

Ground fighting slowed almost to a standstill as truce negotiators agreed on a provisional cease-fire line across the Korean peninsula and plunged into work on the next item on the armistice agenda—supervision of a truce.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

ONE night in the early thirties, when the boys were just realizing how big a business crime could be one it was enforced by a division of specialists in slaughter, the slightly built boss of Murder, Inc., Lepke Buchalter, sat down for a business conference with another power in the field of sudden death, chap by name of Lucky Luciano.

Within 48 hours, at least 40 men were shot, knifed, ice-picked or garroted to death in cities across the land.

Lepke had gone to Lucky with a complaint about "cowboy stuff." It seems that an ambitious lad called Salvatore Marrizano, who operated out of the Grand Central Building behind a glass door marked "Real Estate," was trying to revive the Mafia's power.

In the process, Victor Riesel Salvatore was spraying too many sidewalks with lead and dead bodies. This, in turn, was creating such publicity that it threatened the newest of rackets—intimidation of unions and industrialists, especially in the multi-million dollar ladies' garment and men's clothing areas.

Lepke thought it ought to stop. Lucky stopped it.

THE MAFIA NEVER recovered—despite the romantic impressions of Senator Kefauver's men, who made it fashionable to dub most cross-country crime a "Mafia" operation. For a while, the "cowboy stuff" stopped. Men were murdered by Albert Anastasia's enforcement division of the big crime syndicates only when necessary. And then, only after much deliberation in the "high court"—before which, by the way, a condemned upper-echelon crime executive could be represented by "counsel," another of the robber barons who would plead his case. But a verdict once reached, seldom was reversed.

Such a killing, for example, was ordered by Luciana, from Cuba, when Bugsy Siegel attracted too much attention to the mob's gambling empire some years back. Bugsy got it while reading in lusty Virginia Hill's home in Beverly Hills.

The mobs prospered. It must be understood that, basically, it was this self-policing which turned Murder, Inc., into one of the nation's mightiest industries. It gradually pulled out of the labor-management field. It bought into hotels, went into Wall Street, bought airplanes and auto fleets for its communications service, but its big sources of income were the gambling and narcotics rackets, with the waterfront just a sideline to keep the local goons happy.

THEN, IN THE PAST year, the "cowboy stuff" broke out again, highlighted by the hot spots of the Kefauver hearings. The syndicate chiefs decided to police themselves once again.

The top criminal minds in the country have been meeting all this past week in Brooklyn and Manhattan deciding just how to sit out the recent wave of publicity—and then just how to recoup their losses in income resulting from the crushing of the slot machine and semi-hidden game room industry along with the cracking down on racing wires.

These many millions they must recoup swiftly just to exist. Their protection machinery, their payoff systems in many cities and their own mob maintenance are spectacularly costly.

So, it's the belief of no less an authority than Burton Turkus, the fighting assistant district attorney who cracked Murder, Inc. (and who tells it excitingly in his amazing book, "Murder, Inc."), that the mobs are once more reverting to the master theory of Lepke. They will again try to develop industrial rackets. They will again attempt to move in on unions and management, working two mobs simultaneously, under one chief, as they did under Lepke's predecessor, Arnold Rothstein.

THAT WILL BE their national bid to cut in on the country's pocketbook. And Turkus warns both sides to keep an eye out for the mobs.

"There's only one way to fight organized crime," he said. "First hit the syndicates in their own pocketbooks by snuffing down their sources of revenue.

"Then you've got to crack them from the inside. You can hire the best detectives, but that doesn't do any good until some top man in their own high court talks. Thirdly, put the white light of publicity on them. Fourth, make certain that the gangster is separated from the crooked politicians. The mobs feed funds into both political parties. Make it a social crime for a political leader to hobnob with racketeers.

"Then analyze every move of the mob against this four-point pattern. Every move of organized crime is aimed at combatting one of these instances. And the big industrial plants are the best spots for recouping of their losses. Watch for it."

Remembering what happened in the thirties, this sounds like right good advice.

Cancer Check-Up for Women

It is important for women to notice any lumps that appear in their breasts and to call on their physician as soon as such lumps appear. Since they may overlook some breast conditions, it is just as important to have their physician examine their breasts at least twice a year.

Certain types of lumps can develop into cancer of the breast, which is the most common type of cancer in women. It may appear at any age, but usually in women betwen 40 and 70.

If lumps that will develop into cancer are detected early enough, a cure is possible. Quite a few women have died from cancer of the breast who did not need to. Those women failed to consult their doctors while the disease was in an early stage.

Some physicians believe that if every woman, especially those between the ages of 40 and 70, had periodic physical checkups and also examined her own breasts regularly, there would be considerably fewer deaths from breast cancer in this country.

Women, particularly those in middle age, should make it a practice to examine their breasts each month for lumps. There is no reason to be unduly alarmed on finding one, for most lumps that form in the breast are not cancerous. In fact, many women regularly develop such lumps just before menstruation, and lose them when their period starts.

Usually, lumps in the upper, outer portion of the breast on the side toward the armpit have proved more dangerous than those occurring elsewhere.

During a woman's monthly periods there are some changes in the breast which may cause tenderness; therefore, an examination at that time may be unsatisfactory.

Any discharge from the nipple calls for a careful examination by the physician.

If the physician suspects that a lump in the breast might be dangerous, he may remove a small piece of it. Most physicians at present believe that tissue from any suspicious lump should be examined as soon as possible under the microscope. In this way they can find out whether or not cancerous changes are taking place. Removing a small piece of tissue is the only way to be sure about this, and is the safest procedure in the long run.

Lions Club Hears Talk On "Near East"

Foreign Affairs Columnist Tells Of Current Trouble

Spencer Irwin, foreign affairs columnist for the Cleveland Plain Dealer, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Marion Lions Club in Hotel Harding Monday noon.

Speaking on "Storm Over the Near East," he said that Egypt is now the focal point in the Near Eastern controversies. He pointed out that the British are present in the Sudan and Suez Canal Zones as the result of old treaties, made at a time when Egypt needed protection, but that Egypt is now tired of outside interference.

Mr. Irwin declared that the Egyptian government has shown itself to be irresponsible by the manner in which it broke its treaty with Britain and incited the uproar of the Egyptian people.

Britain, the speaker remarked, has become a scapegoat for the internal troubles of the Arab countries, nations having the lowest levels of living in the world. In the past, he said, Iran was supposed to use the royalties from oil for the betterment of the people but the money never got past the top politicians, and the same thing has happened in Egypt. He stated that the nations of the West will do everything possible to keep the Suez Canal Zone out of Egypt's hands.

In addition to Egypt, Mr. Irwin discussed Iran, Israel, Iraq, and the difficulties involved in establishing a new Middle East Command. In conclusion he told the group, "In our outlook on World Affairs, we build only militarily and do not build up the domestic economies. This can not be done. They must go hand in hand."

Guests at the meeting were Kenneth Staats, Louis Conkle, Richard Smith, Clyde Weise, U. A. Nystrom, Dr. Frank Murphy Jr., Dr. James S. Greetham, and Dr. Fred Merchant.

Ohio Newsman Speaks Here On World Picture

Spencer Irwin Tells Of Aid Provided Overseas by U.S.

By EDNA S. DUTTON

What the United States has done, its accomplishments and failures in the post-World War II years in Western Europe, was pictured in a talk by Spencer D. Irwin, Cleveland newspaperman, Monday night in the First Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Mr. Irwin returned to Marion by popular request, under sponsorship of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs and his talk was the first on the federation's 1951-52 program. His topic was "The Temper of Western Europe."

Choosing Italy, France and England as symbolic of the overall picture, Mr. Irwin described as "magnificent" the job the United States is doing in Italy. Here, he said, the Marshall plan is taking care of the small as well as large industry, and a large segment of the population is being reached. In his visit to that country recently he found the people helping themselves and expressing gratitude for the aid received from this country. Helping to build up the morale of the people and fostering good will towards the United States is the housing program already under way, Mr. Irwin found. What we have failed to do is to keep a clear cut promise made in 1948 to return Trieste to Italy. Failure to keep this promise, followed by other things, has hurt Italy and provides "fodder" for communistic propaganda, he believes. Admission of Italy in the United Nations would not only be a morale builder for the Italians, but would build up our prestige and also counteract communistic propaganda.

Concerned Over France

Mr. Irwin expressed concern about the situation in France and described that country as the key to our rearmament program. Unlike Italy, where the ECA operation is handled by capable men in the diplomatic service whose interest is not only seeing that country get on its feet, but also fosters amiable relations with the United States, the operation is in French hands. He described the cost of living as high as in the U. S. with the exception of clothing which is higher, and the earnings of the average family not sufficient for food. He cited corruption in government and said the country is without a sense of security. The government, he said, recognizes that fraud is practiced, and added that no private industry receives ECA help. Our failure in France, Mr. Irwin pointed out, is that we have failed to appreciate the fight of the French in Indo-China as we do our own in Korea. As a solution he advocates acting in France as we do in Italy and stating how far we will go to help meet the country's needs. These things, he added, are to our interest as well as France.

Program In England

Mr. Irwin believes the Conservative party came back into power in England with a very definite program, and that Churchill will go to any length to save England from disaster. The chief program in England is the fall of the dollar and the problem of rearmament, he stated. He expressed concern over the attitude of the average Englishman which, he said, is quite critical of the United States because of the failure of the U. S. in keeping some of our problems.

An overall policy showing that the proposed program of the United States is geared more to peace than war and treating other as we would like to be treated is the only way we can buttress the work we have done in Europe, Mr. Irwin believes.

A question period followed the talk.

The audience, which included a number of men, occupied the main auditorium and some were seated in the balcony and the Sunday School room. A welcome was extended by Mrs. Walter E. Hane, president of the Federation, and the speaker was presented by Miss Pansy Rauhauser, program chairman of the Federation. Members of the El Dorado and Mid-Century Clubs were ushers.

Mr. Irwin is associate editor and foreign affairs columnist of the Cleveland Plain Dealer. He recently returned from a tour of European countries and also made his second trip to Israel this year. He is now engaged in writing "This Land Is Mine," to be published in the fall of 1952.

Farm Bureau Head Heard At Convention

COLUMBUS, Nov. 27—(AP)—The president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, said today it would be "unnecessary and undesirable" to call a convention to revise Ohio's Constitution.

Speaking at the 33rd annual meeting of the farm organization, Everett F. Rittenour said: "If revision is desirable, it can be accomplished by reference to the electorate by the General Assembly, or by use of the initiative machinery provided in the Constitution."

Ohioans will vote next year on whether to hold a constitutional convention.

Rittenour also urged the 283 delegates to "adequately finance" the Farm Bureau. One of the issues at the meeting is a proposal to raise state Farm Bureau dues from $2.50 a year to $4 in 1953.

More than 1,000 farmers from all parts of the state registered yesterday for the three-day meeting. About 2,000 are expected today.

Murray D. Lincoln, president of the Farm Bureau Insurance Companies, last night urged farmers to throw off dependence on government programs and to establish more cooperatives.

"We have the techniques, the skills and the assets to set up a system of distribution for farm products which will get more milk into babies' mouths and more of all farm goods into peoples' hands at less cost," he said.

"If we fail to achieve this goal," he continued, "we will have war, recurrent depression and domination by the state. This is a combination which will bring us to our knees."

Steel Wage Talks Open

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27—(AP)—How to get around government wage ceilings poses a big problem for Philip Murray today as he begins negotiations which he hopes will result in a "substantial" wage boost for nearly 1,000,000 CIO United Steelworkers who now average $1.97 an hour.

In addition, Murray—president of both the CIO and the Steelworkers—is meeting firm opposition from the steel industry. Top industry spokesmen say they can't afford to boost wages because materials have increased in price and profits have fallen.

Turned Robber Because It 'Beat Working'

Onetime Editor Of College Humor Magazine Nabbed

CLEVELAND, Nov. 27—(AP)—Police in suburban Parma quoted a University of Pittsburgh graduate today as saying he turned to armed robbery because it was "easier than working."

The man they arrested when he disregarded his wife's tearful warning that detectives had set an ambush for him was Thomas A. Lerkinson, 29, onetime editor of the "Pitt Panther," a top college humor magazine.

He told detectives later that his wife's tears, during the telephone call convinced him police were mistreating her. Police denied that.

Detectives John Magerko and Virgil Costley at Parma said the journalism department graduate was wanted for 15 robberies in the Pittsburgh area and had admitted two of them.

Admits 10 Robberies

Ralph Morcroft, police chief at Bellevue, a Pittsburgh suburb, declared Perkinson had admitted ten. The six-foot, one-inch blonde captive was taken to Pittsburgh after the arrest last night.

The arrest was made at a reducing salon where the wife worked in Lakewood, another Cleveland suburb. Magerko said Perkinson and his wife of two years, Mrs. Marion Ruth Perkinson, 25, had lived in Parma.

Calm Pilot Guides Crippled B-36 To Safe Landing

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 27—(AP)—A 28-year-old pilot said a steady rain helped him land a crippled B-36 bomber safely yesterday.

"But someone else was pulling for us, too, I think," added Capt. Clarence F. Horton of San Antonio.

The heavy-set pilot, a West Point graduate, made a tricky five-engine landing with the giant atom bomb carrier after ordering 16 crewmen to jump. All but one parachuted without serious injury.

He was T/Sgt. Charles A. Kartochvil, Petersburg, Va., a gunner. X-rays were made to determine if he had a fractured leg.

Two other crew members rode the sleek bomber to earth after circling Carswell Air Force Base for 6½ hours attempting to remedy a damaged landing gear.

Horton believed rain-slicked runways kept tires on the damaged side of the landing gear from exploding from heat after touching the runway.

Would Limit Arms Talks

PARIS, Nov. 27—(AP)—The United States today was expected to press for a time limit on any secret disarmament discussions that may result from the Arab-Asian proposal to take the East-West disarmament debate off the world soap box and put it behind closed doors.

The U.S. once more took the initiative from the Russians by the swift American approval yesterday of the proposal before the United Nations General Assembly that the big four—the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Britain—try to agree on disarmament in private talks. The discussions would be under the chairmanship of assembly president Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico.

The U. S. move left it squarely up to Soviet foreign minister Andrei Vishinsky to say whether his nation would participate. A "no" answer would be interpreted generally as unwillingness to go half-way in taking every proffered chance to restore world stability.

Vishinsky yesterday told newsmen he was thinking over the proposal, made by Pakistan, Iraq and Syria and supported by India.

Patrol Reports Crash Between Two Trucks

Two vehicles, a truck and a tractor and semi-trailer, were damaged in an accident on Route 4 at 6:10 p.m. Monday, the state highway patrol reported today.

The tractor and semi-trailer, driven by Bonabas Smith, 21, of Cleveland, was stopped at a railroad crossing a mile south of Marion and was struck in the left rear by a truck driven by Wesley Wilcox, 33, of near Marion. Both vehicles were traveling south.

Wilcox was cut on the head but was not treated.

Two arrests Monday were also reported by the patrol.

William Earl, 37, of near Marion was arrested at 2:15 p.m. on Route 95 on a charge of parking on the highway. He was cited to appear today in Marion Municipal Court.

Elsie Tefft of Upper Sandusky was charged with speeding on Route 23 at 9:20 p.m. and was fined $10 and costs when she pleaded guilty before L. C. Schoenberger, justice of the peace in Upper Sandusky.

Promises "Doorbell Ringing" Strategy

Taft Planning To Duplicate Successful Ohio Campaign

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) says if he gets the 1952 Republican nomination he will try to duplicate a "doorbell ringing" campaign in which he won re-election in Ohio last year.

Taft, an avowed candidate for the GOP nomination, told reporters today he thinks a party standard bearer should make personal contact with as many people as possible in a campaign.

"Of course, you can't actually put on a doorbell ringing campaign yourself, but I would urge that every state do what he did in Ohio in 1950—organize from the precinct up," he said.

The same sort of organization was called for on the part of the Democrats by their national chairman, Frank E. McKinney, in a New York speech last night.

McKinney criticized Taft's stand on foreign policy issues. He said the Ohioan had joined with Senators Wherry (R-Neb), McCarthy (R-Wis) and House GOP leader Joe Martin (Mass) in "the partisan babble" McKinney said often drowned out the voices of Republicans who wanted to cooperate with the administration on foreign policy.

McKinney said President Truman "is ready to help" the Democrats clean out the "termites" the national chairman said have turned up among administration office holders.

"In my opinion, 99.9 percent of those entrusted with public office are honest and incorruptible," McKinney said. "The few who do not measure up to these standards must be exposed and punished relentlessly. I am ready to help—and what is more important, Harry S. Truman is ready to help."

Issues in Ohio

Taft told a Senate elections subcommittee yesterday he attempted to make "foreign policy and the socialistic trend of the Truman administration" the chief issues of the 1950 Ohio campaign. He indicated to reporters he thinks they will be major issues again if he wins the GOP presidential nomination.

Taft got some added support in his bid for the Republican nomination from Senator Capehart (R-Ind).

"The best interests of the United States and the world would be served in nominating Taft and MacArthur—or MacArthur and Taft, take your choice," Capehart told reporters. "Their election would safeguard the U.S. government for the next four years."

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, mentioned by Capehart, has said he isn't running for any political office.

Stalin Stooge Arrested In Czech Purge

LONDON, Nov. 27 — (AP) — Moscow-trained Rudolf Slansky, one-time hatchet man of Czechoslovak communism, has been fired as vice premier and arrested for "activities against the state," the Prague radio announced today.

The arrest was ordered by Communist president Klement Gottwald at the suggestion of premier Antonin Zapotocky, the announcement said, because "investigations into activities of subversive groups" brought out facts that convict Slansky.

Slansky was removed from his job as secretary-general of the Czechoslovak Communist party last September in a move tied by western observers to Moscow orders to the Czech Communists to tighten their ranks against inroads of "Titoism."

The announcement at that time said Slansky would get "another important state post," but did not say what the post was to be.

The Czech government shakeup was believed to have been linked with growing unrest in Czechoslovakia at the rising demands of the ruling Communists for greater production to feed the Soviet war machine.

Beekeeper Caught With Pants Down

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. —(UP)—Ray Baker's 75 pounds of honey from a bee hive at his home was substantial reward for being stung seven times, but the buzzers never should have gotten up his pants legs.

Neighbor women gathered with pots and pans for some of the honey as bees covered Baker's clothing and face.

When the bees got up his pants legs and he couldn't stand still, he said "Excuse me ladies," and dropped his pants.

vote was an ordinance making additional appropriations and transferring funds already appropriated. The total amount was $21,592. Safety-Service Director Ralph E. Forrest said the ordinance was placed before council to aid some city departments which are running short of funds. He said a similar ordinance usually was passed at the end of each year when funds were available in other departments.

Largest on List

Biggest appropriation included in the ordinance was in Mr. Forrest's department. A total of $15,862.50 was transferred from the garbage fund to the service department. Earmarked as payment for increased costs of labor was $14,000. Other amounts will go for clerk hire, truck supplies and repairs and motor fuel.

Funds amounting to $1,460 were appropriated from the general fund for use in the auditor's office, Municipal Court and the police department. An additional $255 was transferred to the city health department while $300 was made available from the Park fund for equipment and labor.

Funds already appropriated in the airport fund were transferred to cover costs of light and fuel and liming of farm lands on airport property. The total amounted to $715 from the sale of gas and oils.

Council turned down a request of Mrs. Lillian McDonough, widow of Charles McDonough, former fireman here. Mrs. McDonough had told council she felt she was entitled to receive money which Mr. McDonough would have received last summer for a vacation. He died before his vacation fell due. The police and fire pension board had been contacted by council members and a board spokesman informed them that the board did not approve of the plan. With the exception of Councilman James Jenkins of the Second Ward and George Stafford, at large, all councilmen voted to kill the request.

Zoning Hearing Set

A public hearing was set for Dec. 10 at city hall on a proposal to change North Main St. from a residential to commercial area. The hearing will be held in the Municipal Court room. First Ward Councilman Harold Smith indicated residents of the area might oppose the move. Some residents attended last night's meeting but were told they could make their pleas at the Dec. 10 hearing.

School Property Proposal

Possibility that the Central Junior High School property may some day be used by the city as a parking lot was brought out again. Council had received a request from R. T. Lewis, asking it to clarify its plans for the property. Several business owners in the city are anxious for the property to be turned into a business location.

A previous study by council committees had convinced the members that council can not purchase the property. The Marion School Board already has received better offers than the city could make, Councilman Tom Clark said. Mr. Clark said the mortgage revenue plan also was discarded because the return in revenue would not be sufficient to pay off the bonds.

Fifth Ward Councilman Don Quaintance, chairman of the municipal service committee, moved Mr. Lewis be contacted and told that council had decided it could take no action but would welcome any suggestions on acquiring the property as city land.

Ferguson

literature was used against him in Ohio in 1950. Ferguson has also complained about campaign literature. The subcommittee is looking into the charges generally; no contest is involved.

Ferguson contended in his statement that $1,200,000 had been spent on a full-page newspaper advertising campaign "that was designed to influence the re-election of Senator Taft."

Taft told the committee he had been against newspaper advertising but that some local committees had taken matters in their own hands and inserted ads over his objections. He said he could not guess how much money, raised locally, was spent.

In his campaigning, Ferguson said, he "ran across instances of half holidays, with pay, given employes of various companies and refineries, that sponsored picnics for families of the workers, furnishing and food and entertainment for Taft rallies in afternoon and evening.

Taft Counter-charge

He continued these expenditures were not reported. Taft said labor union officials worked full time against him in the campaign while receiving their usual pay. No accounting was made of this, he testified.

Ferguson said that when any candidate is given the support of labor, as he was, this "seems to assure the opposition of huge financial support from anti-labor forces."

"The contributions that labor unions are able to make for their candidates are insignificant in comparison," he declared.

Ferguson said his campaign expenses totaled $107,004 but Taft guessed that up to $2,000,000 had been spent on the Democratic candidate. He said supporters of Ferguson "coerced and bludgeoned" union members into contributing $2 each "to the huge slush fund used against me."

He then went home and told his mother and telephoned his father at the store.

The youth, held by county authorities after admitting setting the blaze, was returned yesterday to military authorities for return to his base.

Agler led Waldo to its win by hitting for 16 points. Vern Hensel had 16 for the losing Middies.

Hensel's 12 points topped the G.I. scoring while Moran and Rizzo had 10 for the winning VFW crew.

Seek Pact Army Speedup

ROME, Nov. 27 — (AP) — The United States and Belgium introduced separate resolutions to the North Atlantic Council today designed to speed up establishment of a European army.

Both resolutions were quickly referred to the NATO deputies, who will try to combine them into one plan to put before the council tomorrow.

The council chairman, external affairs minister Lester B. Pearson of Canada, said he thought the "margin between (the two plans) was not very great."

He described the plans as an effort to give a "push forward" to the move for the European army and for bringing in countries other than those belonging to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, presumably a reference to West Germany.

Mexican's Conviction Upheld

Supreme Court Decides "American Vogeler Case"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—The supreme court Monday brushed aside contentions that it was dealing with an "American Vogeler case" and upheld the Nebraska murder conviction of a Mexican citizen.

The high tribunal split 6-2 in rejecting the plea of Agapita Gallegos that a confession he gave police should not have been used against him because it was obtained during 25 days of "illegal" detention.

Gallegos was arrested Sept. 19, 1948, in El Paso County, Tex., on request of immigration authorities. A statement he gave county police there led to the discovery of the body of his common law Mexican wife in a grave on a farm near Minatare, Neb. He was convicted of second degree murder and sentenced to ten years in the Nebraska State Penitentiary.

Gallegos contended his detention was illegal because he was not arraigned promptly after his arrest.

Other Decisions

In other actions Monday, the Supreme Court:

1. Voted 5-2 to restore full American citizenship to a native of Germany once ordered deported because he admitted he lied in swearing he would fight for the United States. The justices noted, however, that the government is free to make a new effort to send Peter Alexos Bindczyck of Elmhurst, L. I., back to Germany so long as it follows precisely the steps set forth in a 1940 immigration law.

2. Let stand unchanged a Chicago Circuit Court decision that the National Labor Relations Act does not protect union members who refuse to cross a picket line in a strike in which they are not involved.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

See Who Wants It?

It seemed to me at the time the NCAA short for National Collegiate Athletic Association—imposed its controlled football telecasts on a nation which is becoming increasingly apathetic toward football, that it was trying to put a genii back into the bottle. Very difficult business, putting a genii back into the bottle.

The television public was accustomed to televised football, uncontrolled and unrestrained. Its reaction to an experiment which limited them to the games the NCAA prescribed (and frequently blacked out football in some areas altogether) was anger—uncontrolled and unrestrained.

John Crosby

And scant wonder. A good many of the NCAA actions have made very little sense.

The Michigan State - Notre Dame game was as good an example of no sense as any. The Mid-West is one of the few remaining citadels of the old-time football mania; yet this game, an automatic sellout, was to be telecast only to the East. At the last minute, WWJ in Detroit carried the game, but the rest of the Mid-West couldn't see it. Washington was also blacked out for this game, though it didn't have a local football game to attend. The Michigan-Illinois game, which had been sold out for months, also was not telecast in the Mid-West. Yet, this scheme was hatched primarily to protect the box-office.

PURPOSE OF THE experiment—in the words of the NCAA—is to see "if collegiate football and TV can live together." The overwhelming vote in favor of the plan by the colleges can be pretty well ascribed to the smaller colleges, who were panicked at the prospect of millions of people sitting home watching Notre Dame while Old Gooseberry was playing its little heart out against Little Bramble patch, unwept, unsung and above all, unattended.

That, to this sports inexpert, seems to raise the heart of the matter. The Little Bramblepatchs used to have a loyal body of rooters who would turn out for the Old Gooseberry game no matter what Notre Dame was up to. But that was back when football was a game, back when there were only eleven men on a side instead of twenty-two, back when basketball was played in a gymnasium instead of on a gridiron. If football is losing its audience, they can't blame it all on television. Maybe, there's something the matter with the set.

THE COLLEGES—most of them, anyway—feel that their football profits have to be protected because football pays for the entire athletic program. But the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, president of Notre Dame—which, incidentally, didn't vote one way or another on the NCAA experiment—has observed quietly that there is no reason football has to pay all the bills. Maybe, he says, the colleges ought to pay their own sports bills.

In any case, the NCAA experiment doesn't seem to have proved anything, though, some instinct tells me, a mess of attendance statistics will be released trying to prove something or other. However, attendance at football games is determined by a lot of variables—how good the team is, how bad the weather is, how much money people have lying around after the grocery bills are paid, and—well, a lot of things that haven't anything to do with television. How the NCAA committee is going to unravel all these factors and come out with some sort of coherent conclusion about television's effect on attendance is a mystery to me. But I'm sure they will. Committees that are set up to arrive at conclusions generally arrive at something that approximates a conclusion — at least in their own minds.

ONE THING the experiment has definitely proved. The public is mad as hornets about it. The country is full of people who bought television sets primarily to look at sports events, people who wouldn't look at Milton Berle if you gave them the Texaco Company. These people want to look at football games, and a good many of the big colleges—notably, Pennsylvania, Army and Notre Dame—want their games televised. With pressure on one hand from the public, on the other one from the colleges—the ones with telegenic football teams—it's difficult to see how the NCAA can have any effect one way or another on whether collegiate football and TV can live together. TV and collegiate football have already lived together, and woe betide the man or the committee that tries to put them asunder.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

"Could I help?" Mildred Grey asked, and I saw a quick look of appeal to me in Bess Conway's eyes. I sent out old private signal for help to Lillian before I answered her.

"I'm sure there won't be work enough for two of us," I said, and then Lillian spoke with a lazy drawl.

"From long years of experience," she said, "I've learned not to interfere when our 'Efficiency Edna' tackles a job. She's a lone wolf if there ever was one, and I'm passing the tip along 'for free'."

"I'll take it, and say 'thank you,' as prettily as I know how," Mildred told her with a grateful smile, and I sent Lillian my thanks with another little signal, as I walked with Bess to the door of the bedroom. When I had closed it, she gave me an uncertain grin.

"You are the most understanding person," she said. "Of course you knew I didn't need help with shedding this truck. But you guessed that I do need to explain things to you."

"Are you sure of that?" I asked her. "You know, I trust, that I do not need to have anything explained to me. But I shall be glad to hear anything you care to tell me."

"I know that," she said, with her quick, enchanting smile. "And now, if you'll excuse me, I'll reverse the Cinderella act and get out of my 'rags'."

She took some lingerie and hose from the bureau, shoes from the rack, a dress and a slip from hangers in the closet. Then she went into the bathroom, and when she came out a few minutes later, she was again the exquisite "French marquise" which we had dubbed her.

"I left my 'disguise' in the bathroom," she said, "so I'll have it handy when I want to get ready to go late this afternoon. I suppose it will be late."

"Around five, I imagine," I told her. "I'll check with Adams."

"Now, or later?" she asked.

"Definitely later," I told her. "The first thing on my agenda is listening to you."

"You angel!" she apostrophized. Then she seated herself opposite me, and caught her breath in sharply.

"It isn't much of a story," she said, "except that, for no tangible reason, I'm frightened—and I've never been frightened before. I don't like it.

"I don't mean frightened for myself," she went on, "I'm fearful that I've been 'mistook in my jedgments,' and that I may have let down the 'Chief' in something he was tracking, oh, nothing so important as this affair of the 'college heel,' and young Peter, but something which was quite important to your father.

"You see," she said, "'the Chief' suspected that this man whom I dodged this morning, a man high in political position in a Far Western city, was really the head of a narcotic ring, and using his position to hide what he was doing. Your father sent me out there, pretending to be a writer for a syndicate which wanted profile articles on political leaders throughout the country. I had luxurious quarters at a swank hotel, not under my own name, and cut quite a swath in the literary and social circles of the city."

She stopped, hesitated, and finally faltered out something which amazed me.

"You won't misunderstand me when I say this man fell for me, hard," she said, "and please don't think I'm wholly insane when I tell you that I almost fell for him."

Vols Finish As AP's No. 1 Team In Country

Through the SPORTSCOPE with A.L. McCLAIN

CLARIFICATION NEEDED. OSU Athletic Director Dick Larkins has said if, and when, the subject of officiating comes on the agenda for the Big Ten he does not plan to attack the officiating in the Ohio State-Michigan game specifically.

Larkins does, however, suggest that the question of officiating be discussed at its December meeting.

What the Buck director means is this: Ohio State will not give out with the "we wuz robbed" line, but will try to clarify when is a forward pass held long enough to be ruled completed; when should a play be ruled dead when a ball carrier is tackled.

Many Ohio observers who witnessed last Saturday's game via their TV screen would also like to know the answer to that one. Apparently the officials in the game at Ann Arbor have a misconception or a TV set is as misleading as a bird dog with a severe case of sinus.

OHIO BOOTER. At first we thought it was a case of looking through Ohio-colored glasses that made us think the officials used poor judgment, but in checking with Detroit sports writers—Michigan men to the end—we found they too brought up the play where the Michigan back caught the ball on the Buck five and immediately fumbled in mid air. For some weird reason it was ruled a completed pass and the whistle had blown — presumedly while the player was on his way down to the turf. The Wolverines were given the ball and scored the only TD on the next play.

Another time End Bob Joslin was hit on the chest by a Tony Curcillo pass and it was ruled a completion and fumble—again on a decision which favored Michigan.

MATTER OF JUDGMENT. Now the ruling on such plays is a matter of judgment. It has come up in other college and professional games witnessed by the TV set this fall with little controversy.

But the five (count 'em) officials employed in the game at Ann Arbor acted like a new ruling had just been handed down by Tug Wilson shortly before game time.

And this is what Larkins has in mind when he suggests officiating be discussed.

It is our honest opinion that the five men in question were as wrong on several plays as the fifth down. And should the Wolves have been given a fifth down late in the game it would have comes as no surprise. By that time we had been "softened up" to expect anything.

Gray Toppers Win At Mansfield, 29-14

The Marion Gray Toppers, girls' basketball team, won their first game of the season Sunday at Mansfield over the Mansfield Friendly House crew, 29-14.

Greta Thompson paced the locals with eight points. Mabel Wright and Helen Mochel each scored six. Winters was high for the losers with six.

A spokesman for the team said an attempt was being made to stir up more interest in girls basketball in and around Marion. Tentative plans call for the use of the armory on Sunday afternoons.

Dayton's Trip To Salad Bowl Hinges On "Right Price"

DAYTON, O., Nov. 27—(AP)—Officials of the Salad Bowl in Phoenix, Ariz., think a guarantee of $16,000 the University of Dayton asked to send its football team to the Jan. 1 game is "too high."

But the Journal Herald, a Dayton newspaper, reported the Dayton team still stands "a very good chance" of making the trip if a compromise can be reached on the guarantee.

The newspaper said Dr. Morris Richeter, chairman of the Salad Bowl committee, told a newsman in a telephone interview bowl officials still are interested "if Dayton can give us a new figure in a hurry."

Richeter said both Xavier and Miami made the trip in past years for $12,500, the newspaper reported.

Rev. Charles L. Collins, chairman of the school's athletic board, said the board would meet today and that he was "hopeful some solution can be reached."

Dayton won 7 games this year and lost two.

Michigan State, Maryland Rate As Runnerups

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—(AP)—Tennessee's Sugar Bowl - bound Vols enjoy a sweet margin today as the nation's top team in the Associated Press football poll.

The undefeated and untied terrors of the South piled up the largest vote of the season to retain their billing as the best in the land.

Tennessee amassed 1,508 points and drew 92 first-place ballots out of 168 from the sports writers and broadcasters to easily out-distance runnerup Michigan State.

The Spartans, boasting the same record as Tennessee, 9-0, collected 34 first-place votes and 1,379 points. Maryland, Tennessee's foe on New Year's Day, came home third with 18 first and 1,257 points, Illinois, the Big Ten's Rose Bowl representative, climbed from sixth to fourth place with 1,030 points.

Trailing the big four were: Princeton, unbeaten Ivy League champion, Georgia Tech, Wisconsin, Stanford, Baylor and Oklahoma.

Impressive

Tennessee commanded its impressive margin by smashing Kentucky, 28-0, Saturday. Michigan State ended its season with a 45-7 triumph against Colorado. Maryland also closed out its season by romping to a 54-7 victory over West Virginia. Illinois squeaked by Northwestern, 3-0.

Stanford, Illinois' Rose Bowl opponents, dropped from third to eighth as a result of their 20-7 loss to California. Oklahoma replaced Kentucky in the big ten, grabbing tenth place. The Wildcats plunged from ninth to 17th place.

Tennessee, Georgia Tech, Baylor and Oklahoma have regular season games remaining. The Vols, seeking their 20th straight win, take on Vanderbilt Saturday. Unbeaten but once-tied Georgia Tech takes on Georgia; Baylor, striving for the Southwest Conference title and a Cotton Bowl berth, clashes with Rice and Oklahoma tangles with Oklahoma A. and M.

Tickets No Problem For Army-Navy

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27—(AP)—So you'd like to see an Army-Navy football game?

Well, this is your year. And there may never be another.

"A limited number of tickets will go on sale" today at box offices set up in mid-city hotels, spokesmen for both academies said. The Army will sell tickets at the Benjamin Franklin, its Philadelphia headquarters for the annual game, while the Navy will open a ticket office at its Bellevue-Straford headquarters.

In case fans miss out on these "limited number of tickets", they still should have no trouble getting them for Saturday's game at Municipal Stadium.

Tickets are available also for $6 at the West Point Athletic Association office, West Point, N. Y. All one has to do is send the money along by telegraph, plus a 30-cent mailing charge, with instructions where to send the tickets.

Or they can be had at any Philadelphia ticket office. End zone seats are priced at $7.20 and some of the better locations at $8.80.

This probably is the first time in the 52-year history of the traditional game between the two service academies that there has been such a surplus of tickets 5 days before the game.

The star survey being made at the Palomar Observatory in California will number the stars and systems of stars out to a distance of 350 million light years.

Famed Harlem Globetrotters Booked For Appearance at Coliseum Dec. 9

The famed Harlem Globetrotters will be featured in a basketball doubleheader at the Coliseum Sunday night, Dec. 9, it was announced today.

The zany Globetrotters, fabulously funny magicians of basketball are celebrating their 25th anniversary this year and they're going all out to make their silver anniversary season the greatest and most astonishing they've ever experienced.

Led by their leading point-getter and star comedian, Reece "Goose" Tatum, plus such standbys as Marques Haynes, Babe Pressley and Bill Brown, the Globetrotters will bring their entire cast to Marion. Three of the nation's better pro clubs will also appear on the program to give cage fans of central Ohio a real treat.

Recalling the Globetrotters' mighty feats of the past, and especially of last season, it would seem that they will have to go some to top previous achievements, but they are famed for the unexpected.

The Trotters entered their 25th year with the amazing 24-year mark of 3,908 victories against only 252 defeats for the sensational percentage of .939. They went on a year round basis last year as they chalked up 334 triumphs against a mere 6 setbacks for a .982 season. This was accomplished with 153 wins and one defeat during their "regular" schedule covering games in the United States, Mexico and Canada. The lone loss was at the hands of George Mikan and his Minneapolis Lakers by a 72-68 score at Chicago Stadium after the Trotters dissipated a 13-point halftime lead.

Then followed the Cuba International Invitational Cup Tournament at Havana which they swept for the third time and the second annual flying World Series of basketball against the nation's leading college cagers of the season. This time the Trotters were even more impressive than in the first series of 1950 as they collected 14 victories in 18 games.

Warmed Up

However, they were only getting warmed up at this point. In a tour of South America they won 46 decisions without a single defeat! Europe and Africa came next. On an extended tour covering 14 countries on the two continents, the Trotters came through 92 games unscathed!

Returning home they were greeted like conquerors. The triumphal home-coming included a series of 8 outdoor games in baseball parks against a team of U.S. stars coached by George Mikan. They won 5 of these games, took a brief vacation of four weeks and then started the campaign again at Chicago Stadium on Oct. 20. They are unbeaten thus far and again are attracting record crowds wherever they play.

BG's BEST. Fred Durig, leading Ohio collegiate ground gainer and Bowling Green State University's all-Ohio fullback, surpassed the NCAA small-college rushing record by running up 1,444 yards in nine games. The record of 1,399 was set in 1949 by Odie Posey of Southern University. The 195-pound junior scored 10 touchdowns in making over 70 per cent of BG's ground yardage. Durig is a Mansfield Madison graduate.

Boast Two Returning Lettermen

Prexy Cagers Prep For Opener Against Bexley

By JOHN SHORT

With two returning lettermen to bolster the Harding attack, Coach Ken Somerlot has swung into the final week of drills before the season opener Friday night at the Coliseum against Bexley of Columbus.

The tentative starting lineup includes five seniors. The attack probably will be built around lettermen Jim Russell and Paul Colby. Russell at 5-11 and Paul Geissler at 6-1 will be at the forward posts, Robbie Miller, who towers 6-7 will operate at the pivot and Colby, 5-11, and Dick Underwood, 5-10, will be at the guards.

At the present time, 12 men are working with Somerlot's varsity crew. Gene Gamble, 6-3½ senior, is expected to give added strength to the squad. He has been alternating with Miller, Geisler and Russell and has impressed his mentors under the boards. Marvin McFann, 6-0 sophomore, also has impressed in early season drills. Second line forwards will be Ted Price, a 5-11 senior, and Roger Fick, a senior standing at 6-3. Bill Smiley, 6-4 junior, gives added height to the second team while Dick Tway and Eddie Porter will give the team two of the speediest guards in competition.

Working Hard

The boys have been prepping for Friday's opener for several weeks. Most of them, except gridders, Smiley and Russell, have been putting in extra hours on the outside court at Harding Stadium during the grid campagin.

After getting into shape on the outside court, the coaching staff moved the squad inside on Nov. 1 when they scrimmaged at Edison Junior High School. Last night they tested the Coliseum hardwood for the first time and will remain there from here on.

When practice started, Coach Somerlot was greeted by 55 candidates. Last Friday, the squad was cut for the final time. Since then, 29 boys remain on the roster.

Somerlot's biggest joy has been Colby and Underwood who have been hitting consistently from the outside. Inability of the Prexies to connect on long shots cost them several close decisions last year. Should the two guards continue their accurate tosses, the Prexies should be considerably stronger.

Sophs Look Good

Another of the high spots of the sessions thus far has been the performances turned in by sophomore hopefuls. Somerlot and his assistants are keeping a sharp eye on a sophomore five. The crew composed of Doug Bibler, Jim Whaley, Bob Hamor, Ron Conroy and Max Knelber has been romping through practice with unusual ability and accuracy as well as spirit.

Six members of last year's crew were lost by graduation. Four of them, Jack Daum, Dean Ludwig, Paul Ludwig and Dick Bender, were members of the starting five. Gene Winters and Dan Day also won monograms.

JUST A HOBBY

Rose Bowl Looms As Close Game

PASADENA, Calif., Nov. 27 — (AP) — With Stanford and Illinois officially named to meet in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day, speculators were counting their fingers today in an effort to predict a winner.

Well, no matter how you juggle the arithmetic, the 38th renewal of the granddaddy of all bowl games figures out tighter than a new pair of shoes.

Here's how the Rose Bowl teams fared against three common opponents this season:

STANDFORD

23 Michigan 13
14 Washington 7
21 UCLA 7
58 Totals 27

ILLINOIS

7 Michigan 0
27 Washington 20
27 UCLA 13
61 Totals 33

Unbeaten Illinois, with only a scoreless tie with Ohio State to blemish its 9-game season, rang up 180 points to 76 for its opposition. The Illini, who won the conference championship by edging Northwestern, 3-0, over the week end, were named to the Rose Bowl yesterday by unanimous vote of the Big Ten faculty representatives.

Stanford, whose only defeat was a 20-7 lacing from California last Saturday, was chosen by similar formalities in the coast conference later in the day.

The Indians, who scored 222 points in 10 games to 141 for their foes, are ranked eighth nationally in this week's Associated Press poll. Illinois is fourth.

Graham in Charity Fight Tonight

CINCINNATI, Nov. 27—(AP) — Danny Stepanovich, young Pittsburgh welterweight who has won 20 of his 25 pro fights, will meet Billy Graham of New York in a 10-round boxing bout here tonight for the benefit of Variety Club charities.

The veteran Graham is a leading contender for the world welterweight crown.

The 29-year-old Graham has lost only five times in 10 years.

Says Tackling Lost Art In Modern Game

Coaches Agree Stress Today Is On Scoring

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—(AP)—A few more thoughts from coaches about inflated football scores before turning the subject loose: Fordham's Ed Danowski gruffly argues: "We have lost the art of tackling" then explains that with a small squad he can't risk "live" tackling practice in the fall . . . And Pitt's Tom Hamilton agrees: "I do not believe that boys tackle as well as they used to. It is probably associated with the many requirements of ball handling and deception which must be perfected." . . . Howie Odell and Don Faurot point out that high schools now have better coaches and better players—especially the passers . . . Frank Leahy thinks: "Many coaches are so confident in their offense that they don't care much if the other fellow does score." . . . And Biggie Munn figures interpretations of some rules, such as pass interference, give the offense an assist . . . Anyway, if you've noticed the scores lately, it all adds up.

SHORTS AND SHELLS. Report from Miami says football fans there are more steamed up about Jacksonville's Gator Bowl than their own Orange Bowl, since the Miami Hurricanes will play in the former . . . Michigan State loses its entire first string offensive line through graduation this year. The opposition probably won't notice the difference next fall . . . Paul Amen, the Army scout, describes Navy as "a team that never has been run over and never has been manhandled." . . . As soon as his young son finishes school in Cincinnati, probably within 2 years, Frexy Warren Giles plans to move National League headquarters to Chicago . . . Ray Destefano, who is prepping Hampton Stable's alerted for the rich winter stakes at Hialeah, holds a card as a union bricklayer.

CLEANING THE CUFF. A Saskatoon, Sask., newspaper, outraged at rough hockey, recently announced it would not report on "excessively rough" games . . . I imagine what would happen if the papers ignored the college football teams that got out of bounds in the same way . . . Recent report in the Harvard Crimson that 3 moonshine stills were operating in Harvard dormitories brought an editorial comment from the Louisville Courier-Journal that "the art of moonshining deserves mature and serious consideration is distinctly a post-graduate effort." But Courtney Clark suggests Harvard's footballers should play in the "Copper Bowl."

Skvarka Captain for '52

Hayes Promises Bucks Will Come Back Strong

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 27—(AP)—Ohio State's Buckeyes will be "back on the victory wagon" next season, Coach Woody Hayes promised the faithful last night.

"If I didn't honestly believe (it), I would resign right here tonight," he declared at the Buckeyes' annual appreciation dinner in the student union. Some 1,000 fans attended.

"Maybe we weren't a too-well coached or well-organized team, but the boys always played their finest against the good clubs that we met," Hayes said.

"We didn't come here to alibi, but I actually feel sorry for the 15 seniors on the squad who won't get a chance to feel that sweet sense of winning. There's nothing I personally like better than coming back after getting my ears pinned back."

4-3-2 Record

The Buckeyes wound up their season Saturday with a 7-0 loss to Michigan. Their season record was 4 wins, 3 losses and 2 ties.

Before the dinner the Buckeyes elected Bernie Skvarka, speedy halfback from Struthers, captain of the 1952 squad. Skvarka is a 21-year-old junior.

The Ohio State Journal Quarterback Club presented a trophy to Bob (Rocky) Joslin, offensive right end from Middletown, for showing the most improvement over the season and for making the most outstanding first-year contribution to the team. Joslin is a sophmore. The trophy was presented by Harrold Eckert, club chairman.

Athletic Director Richard C. Larkins presented awards to varsity, jayvee and freshman players. The varsity and jayvee received "O's" and the freshman sweaters and numerals.

Ousted Cadets Can't Return, Army Says

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—None of the 90 West Point cadets dismissed for cribbing last August will be considered for reappointment under a policy laid down by the Department of the Army.

This was disclosed today after at least three members of Congress renominated boys who had been ousted for violating the West Point code of honor by accepting or giving help to aid in passing examinations.

The Adjutant General's office sent to each of three House members—majority leader McCormack (D-Mass) and Reps. Davis (R-Wis) and Clevenger (R-Ohio) similar letters stating that in view of the circumstances the boys would not be considered for reappointment.

suspension while it investigated charges against them.

Spare No Effort

Dunlap took over the bureau Aug. 1 after the resignation of George J. Schoeneman. As the irregularities developed, he proclaimed he would spare no effort to "eliminate from our service any employes who have betrayed their high trust."

In his testimony yesterday, Caudle defended his association with Keith M. Beaty, a long-time friend and business man of Charlotte, N. C., whose tax returns have been under investigation.

He declared bitterly that he had been made the butt of "malicious" rumor and attacks because of investigation of rackets in Charlotte, and said he was "afraid for my life" if he returned there.

The subcommittee, meanwhile, continued its sparring with the Justice Department over access to its tax files and fraud prosecution records.

Cease-Fire

the truce teams plunged into the problem of supervising the armistice.

Full Dress

North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il, clad in full dress uniform with gold epaulettes, red striped trousers and fancy gray felt boots, presented the Communist ideas first.

A U.N. command communique described the five-point Red plan as "some suggestions" for "detailed actions to be taken rather than a basic approach to the question."

Then Turner, also in dress uniform, presented the detailed seven-point plan of the U.N. command. It provides:

1. A cease-fire effective within 24 hours after an armistice is signed applying to all forces under either command.

2. A supervisory organization with an eqqual number of Allies and Reds to carry out armistice terms.

3. No increase in military forces, equipment, supplies or facilities.

4. The armistice commission and its joint observation teams "shall have free access to all parts of Korea."

5. Air, naval and ground forces, including irregulars to withdraw from enemy territory.

6. Armed forces will stay out of the buffer zone.

7. The military commander of each side shall administer his half of the 2½-mile wide buffer zone.

Principles First

Joy said the immediate objective is "to get agreement on principles and then let committees work out details."

The Communist plan had no provision for either free-roaming inspection teams or a guarantee against a military buildup. These two points were expected to be most distasteful to the Communists.

The Red plan proposed:

1. Hostilities to end the day an armistice is signed.

2. Armed forces to withdraw from the demilitarized zone within three days after the signing.

3. Military forces to vacate coastal islands and seas off each other's coasts within five days.

4. Armed forces stay out of the buffer zone.

5. Create a joint commission for armistice arrangements and supervision.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, who speaks for the U.N. command, said the Red plan seemed to deal with "almost minor administrative details."

Nam Il said the question of preventing a new outbreak of fighting was a question to be taken up at a higher level after an armistice. He said this subject would include withdrawal of foreign troops which would be included in recommendations to belligerent governments, the last item on the armistice agenda.

Mrs. Holloway, Active Church Leader, Dies

Heart Attack Fatal To Wife of Pastor Of Trinity Church

Mrs. Thelma Celeste Shelton Holloway, 48, wife of Dr. J. B. Holloway of 216 S. Vine St., pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, died at 12:30 a. m. today in her home. She had undergone a major operation at City Hospital Nov. 14 and was returned home Thanksgiving Day, apparently convalescing satisfactorily. Cause of death was pronounced heart attack.

Members of the family had been here with her during her illness. Her daughter, Miss June Holloway, was in Marion the last two weeks, returning Saturday to Tallahassee, Fla., where she teaches in Florida State University. Her father, Capt. Two Marion Women Attend Voters Meeting

Mrs. H K. Mouser of 141 S. Prospect St. and Mrs. Walter E. Hane of 419 E. Church St. are representing the League of Women Voters of Marion at the 54th Annual National Conference on Government of the National Municipal League in Cincinnati at the Netherlands Plaza Hotel Nov. 26, 27, and 28.

Mrs. Mouser and Mrs. Hane are co-chairmen of Constitution study for the Marion League, a branch of the League of Women Voters of Ohio which is working for a favorable vote in November, 1952, on the question of calling a Constitutional Convention.

Ohio has been chosen by the National Municipal League as the site for the annual national conference because the citizens of Ohio will have the opportunity to vote next year on holding a Constitutional Convention. This opportunity is afforded to the voters only once every 20 years. The convention would review the present state Constitution and determine whether to revise, alter, or amend it. The decision of the convention would then be submitted to the voters for approval or rejection.

Edison, Inc., and a former governor of New Jersey, will speak on "Rejuvenating State Government." James Kerney Jr., editor of the Trenton (N. J.) Times, will speak Wednesday.

A special session will be held Wednesday afternoon by the Citizens Committee on the Ohio Constitution, which is conducting an educational campaign to inform an interest Ohio's citizens on the issue of holding a Constitutional Convention.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK, Nov. 27—(UP)—Stocks gained irregularly at a quiet opening today.

Most net changes held to fractions. A long list opened at the previous close. Caution continued in view of the appraisal of yesterday's rise which was held to be disappointing. The latter came after nearly a week of decline and was considered purely technical.

Radio Corp. featured in volume with a 3,300-share block at 222⅛ up ⅜. Radio Keith Pictures had a 2,000-share block at 4 off ⅛. American Cyanamid, the strong feature, opened at 109¾ up 1, and extended its rise in the early trading.

Steels and motors ruled steady. West Indies Sugar gained ½ while South Porto Rico Sugar lost ¾ point. Southern Railway stood out in the carriers with a ¾ point gain. Firestone had a similar rise in the tires and Celanese had that honor in the textiles.

Kennecott gained a point to 87¾ in the non-ferrous metals. Most other changes were small. Santa Fe, Chrysler, U.S. Steel, Northern Pacific, and Westinghouse Electric held at previous closing levels. Trading turned very dull after the opening with prices steady.

Disposition Of Morrow Co. Estate To Be Made Soon

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Nov. 27—A decision in the disposition of the $100,000 estate of the late Charles E. Parsons which was willed for a Morrow County children's home is scheduled to be made sometime in January it was announced after a hearing Monday in the Morrow County Common Pleas Court, by Newark Judge Charles E. Holtsberry.

The Parsons will specified that the Morrow County Commissioners establish a children's home. In event the commissioners did not accept the estate it was to go to the Ohio Rural Mail Carrier's Association and if they in turn did not accept it, it was to go to other named beneficiaries.

Attorneys were present representing Circleville Home and Hospital of Knights of Pythias at Springfield; Feightly Lutheran Home at Tipp City, and Arthur Capper Fund for Crippled Home at Topeka, Kansas.

Attorneys for the plaintiff at the Monday hearing argued that the County Commisisoners by asking the Ohio Rural Mail Carrier's Association to bring suit for a declaratory judgment, had admitted that they do not want to accept the estate.

The commissioners declared that the war and subsequent events had not made it feasible up to the present time to build. Judge Holtsberry gave the attorneys for the Association three weeks in which to file briefs with Prosecutor Leon McCarty representing the commissioners an additional three weeks to file an answer.

Entitled "The Blonde Corinthian"

Galion Author's 1st Book Published This Week

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 27—"The Blonde Corinthian," first novel written by Herbert Todd Cobey, 33-year-old Galion industrialist, who has written several plays, was officially published this week by Farrar, Straus and Young.

Cobey will autograph copies of his book at a Cleveland store Nov. 30, between 1 and 2:30 p.m.

A highlight of the autograph party in Cleveland will be the personal appearance of Ilona Massey, famous movie actress, who is coming from New York City, to appear as "The Blonde Corinthian." She also will sign Cobey's books.

Some of America's finest fashion designers have been inspired by the title and story of the book, and have done "Blonde Corinthian" shades and designs after the stunning provocative young lady, the heroine of Cobey's delightful story.

Cell Chapman, New York designer, has done her own "Blonde Corinthian" color which is produced in cocktail and evening gowns shown in New York recently. Esther Dorothy has included fall and winter interpretations of "Blonde Corinthian" furs; Ferrantello of Bergdorf-Goodman, world famous hair stylist, offers "Blonde Corinthian" hair styles and hair tone; Fownes, makers of fine gloves; G. Howard Hodges, designer of hats; Kayser, manufacturers of hosiery, and Carolyn Schnurer, has used "Blonde Corinthian" tone and design in resort wear.

Cobey's novel is attracting wide attention in the book world. The preface of the book was done by Louis Bromfield, famous author of Richland County, O. The novel is simply written, in a style similar to "Candid." His heroine, "The Blonde Corinthian" is a beautiful young lady, and the hero is a man with a conviction that happiness can be found. Although the book is set in ancient times, some of the places visited are modern countries in slight disguise.

Cobey named his book for his wife, Phyllis, mother of their two two young sons. The Cobeys live in Galion. He is president of The Cobey Corporation at Bucyrus, vice president of the Perfection Steel Body Company at Galion, and has many other business interests in addition to his writing.

Bread Pudding Old but Excellent Dessert

NO matter how simple the dinner, dessert is a command performance at nearly every meal. The favorite of all the foods served at meals, it's a natural scene stealer at the table. And even a steady favorite from way, way back, like bread pudding, can be a star. As a hearty end to a light dinner, you can't find a better finale, and the proof is in the tasting.

BREAD PUDDING

¼ cup butter or margarine, creamed
7½ slices enriched white bread
1 t cinnamon
1 cup seedless raisins
3 eggs
⅔ cup sugar
2 cups hot milk
1 t vanilla extract

Spread creamed butter or margarine on bread. Cut each slice in 4 squares. Cover the bottom of a baking dish (12 by 7½ by 1¾ inches) with half the bread squares. Sprinkle with cinnamon and raisins. Top with remaining bread, buttered side up. Beat eggs with rotary egg beater until light, adding sugar gradually. Add hot milk very slowly to eggs, beating constantly. Beat in vanilla. Pour egg, milk mixture over bread. Set dish in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 50 to 60 minutes or until a knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serve hot with cinnamon sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Cinnamon Sauce: Blend 1 cup sour cream, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 3 tablespoons sugar, and 1 teaspoon cinnamon well, and serve sauce separately.

Lausche Sees Early Start On Turnpike

PETERSBURG, O., Nov. 27—(AP) — Gov. Frank J. Lausche said yesterday he hopes the Ohio turnpike will be "well under way before another 12 months have passed."

He spoke at ceremonies dedicating a new 67-mile western extension of the famed Pennsylvania turnpike.

The ceremonies took place a short distance from where the Pennsylvania turnpike ends in a muddy field at the Ohio border, about two miles east of this village.

"I wish the people of Ohio could personally view the condition which exists at the Ohio border," Lausche said.

A shivering crowd of about 500 cheered when he said, "the people of Ohio want a turnpike built in their state."

Lausche said his "present predisposition is that a special session of the Ohio legislature will have to be called" to amend the turnpike law to meet objections raised by investment bankers.

The investment bankers, who must buy the bonds to finance the project, said the law must be changed so the turnpike commission could get immediate possession of condemned land for right-of-way. As it rends now, they said, the landowners could delay the turnpike by appealing the price paid for their land through various courts.

TB Units Asked To Visit Morrow Co.

MT. GILEAD, Nov. 27—Morrow County TB Health Association has voted to sponsor the Chest X-ray and Dental Mobile Unit to promote better health, according to Roy Graham, acting president of the local group.

Letters were mailed this week to the Morrow County Board of Health and the State Board of Health requesting the scheduling of the two untis for a visit in the county in 1952.

Work of the association has been hampered without a fully-staffed health department but following the passage of a county-wide health levy the health association is formulating plans for future health activities.

Mrs. Stella Kirkpatrick, executive secretary, has mailed out 2,500 letters containing health seals in the annual Christmas campaign in an effort to raise $2,500 which was set as a goal by the executive committee. Harley Lepp is the seals chairman and M. Doyle Rusk is serving as publicity chairman.

Money Plus Enthusiasm

IF THE senatorial investigators rustling among the left-over "comic books" and scandal sheets circulated in Ohio during the Taft-Ferguson campaign are looking for the whole story, they will use more than adding machines.

It's true that sizable sums of money were spent on both sides; it was an all-out campaign. But since President Truman, himself, has gone out of his way to hint that Senator Taft won because his side had no shortage of funds, this particular slur needs to be evaluated. Perhaps the most direct way to do this is to point out that the other side had no shortage of funds, either, yet it lost. Despite its backing by union politicians, all the Democratic organizations there are and the involuntary contributions of hordes of captive workers whose money can be used for purposes they never approved, the Ferguson campaign fell on its face in 1950. Why?

It was the consensus at the time that this happened because there was no enthusiasm behind it. Enthusiasm was conspicuously absent among many union voters who were supposed to be against Senator Taft because he had demonstrated enough courage to curb some of the more extreme powers of union politicos. These officials would get even by ousting Taft from the U.S. Senate.

It was not for lack of money that Mr. Ferguson's backers lost their famous campaign. It was for lack of enthusiasm among voters. Mr. Truman knows that. The unionists know it. Leading Democrats know it. But they would like to make it appear otherwise and are hoping the senatorial investigation will turn up less than the whole story.

An Alarm Went Off

IF THIS time the Communists in Korea really want a cease-fire, it is possible the casualty rate may fall to the disappearing point before Christmas.

That would be a great comfort to the United States, it would be a great comfort to North Korean and Communist China, too. Korea has cost heavily in life—so heavily that Americans wonder about the advisability of fighting there at all.

But if the fighting finally stops and it becomes possible to look at Korea in perspective, the question about the fighting may not loom so large.

The United States discovered by rushing into action that it was not prepared to sustain its interests against the Communist conspiracy. Its troops lacked the right kind of tanks; the result was to develop better tanks. The troops, themselves, were short on know-how. The result was to speed up a training program. The best U.S. planes, it was discovered, were not good enough to guarantee supremacy over the best Russian-made planes.

Korea has been a costly way to learn these things. But if there had been no Korea, the United States would still be a sitting duck for the Communist conspiracy.

Off Season Query

THE former manager of the Cleveland Indians and new manager of the Boston Red Sox, Lou Boudreau, once admitted he was asking an umpire for chewing gum when the fans in the stands thought he was arguing over a close play. The story comes to mind with the news that Marty Marion, freshman manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, has been let go because, among other things, he didn't argue enough.

Marion, like Mel Ott of the Giants, who flunked out as manager for inability to act like a rowdy, happens to have the instincts of a gentleman. This is something he can't help—and why should he want to? It says in the books that all young men should try to be good sportsmen and gentlemen. They don't teach little boys in school to shoot off their mouths and make other people feel ashamed of them. And above all, they don't teach little boys that it would be honest to pretend to be roughnecks to fool the boss and the dumb, gullible public. But the tradition lingers that in baseball a manager is no good unless he shoots off his mouth every time the umpire makes an honest decision against the manager's team.

Why?

Football Allergy

SOME of the deep-dish ideas for taking professionalism out of amateur football are reminiscent of notions for curing alcoholism.

One notion was to make alcohol illegal. This has its counterpart in the decision to get rid of football, which some foolish institutions are making.

Another notion is to ration it. Still another is to use only certain kinds at specified times. But experience has shown that the only sure-fire way to cure alcoholism is to cure the weakness of which it is a symptom.

There is only one way to clean up football, basketball and whatever other sport may be run into the ground by people who have no tolerance for amateurism. It is to restore the authority of educators over institutions of education.

Vandenberg Speaks Out

By David Lawrence

His Words Said To Confirm MacArthur's Action

WASHINGTON

THE truth comes out at last. General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of the U. S. Air Forces, has confirmed the military soundness of the position taken by Gen. Douglas MacArthur with reference to the war in Korea.

For speaking out while there was still time to save American lives from being lost, General MacArthur was dismissed by President Truman.

For speaking out now — after the lives have been lost — no action will be taken against General Vandenberg, and none of course should be, but it shows that the American people have been denied the truth for many months as their own government has deliberately handed to the enemy a military advantage that has no precedent in the wars of history. In reporting on his inspection trip to Korea, General Vandenberg writes:

LAWRENCE

"Almost overnight China has become one of the major air powers of the world. Obviously it has attained this status as the direct beneficiary of another power possessing the essential industrial and technical resources that Communist China itself lacks."

Here is an indictment of United Nations policy by a member of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff. For it was the members of the U.N. who denied the American air forces the opportunity to bomb enemy bases in Manchuria. General Vandenberg adds:

"Our control of the air in northwest Korea, although by no means lost, is not as firm as it was."

THAT SINGLE SENTENCE tells the story of military delay and military defeat accomplished by a refusal to follow up normal military advantages. General Vandenberg puts it this way:

"However severe the fighting, however great the effort the air war over Korea so far has been a limited war, a war in which the blows that might lead to a decision have been withheld."

Why have these blows been withheld? The answer given last May before the Senate armed services committee by members of the administration was that there was a fear the war might spread. Russia, therefore, has successfully intimidated the American government. More than 100,000 American casualties have been expended in a war that was not fought with maximum power. That will take a lot of explanation by President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson to the parents and relatives of the boys who were asked to make such an unprecedented sacrifice to fear.

GENERAL VANDENBERG has written into the record a more devastating indictment than General MacArthur ever wrote. For the Air Force chief says now:

"The surest and most economical way of establishing air supremacy is to shatter an enemy air force on the ground — to destroy systematically the bases from which his aircraft operate together with ground facilities that make it possible for them to operate, and the factories that provide a flow of replacement for his airforce in being.

"Under the ground rules established at the outset of the Korean war, it is impossible for us to gain air supremacy over the Chinese Communist air force under the classical definition. We, on our side, for reasons that we all understand, have followed a policy of not attacking the strongholds of enemy air power directly across the Yalu."

But do all of us understand those reasons? Who established those "ground rules"? And when the forthcoming truce is signed, does it mean that the buildup beyond the Yalu will continue and that the inspection which is supposed to be one of the terms of the truce will not extend to the air bases beyond the Yalu? And will the communist high command have a free hand to continue to mount such air forces as can swoop down at any moment and attack all our air bases in Korea whenever it suits them to break the truce? General Vandenberg has revealed the perilous position of 350,000 American troops. The draft calls for more troops to replace them are going on every month in increasing numbers.

MEANWHILE, Russia still remains a member of the United Nations though a member of the Joint Chiefs openly accuses her of aiding Communist China which regime has been declared an "aggressor" by the U.N. Not a word of protest has come from Secretary Acheson at the U.N. meeting in Paris about this flagrant violation of the principles of the U.N. charter.

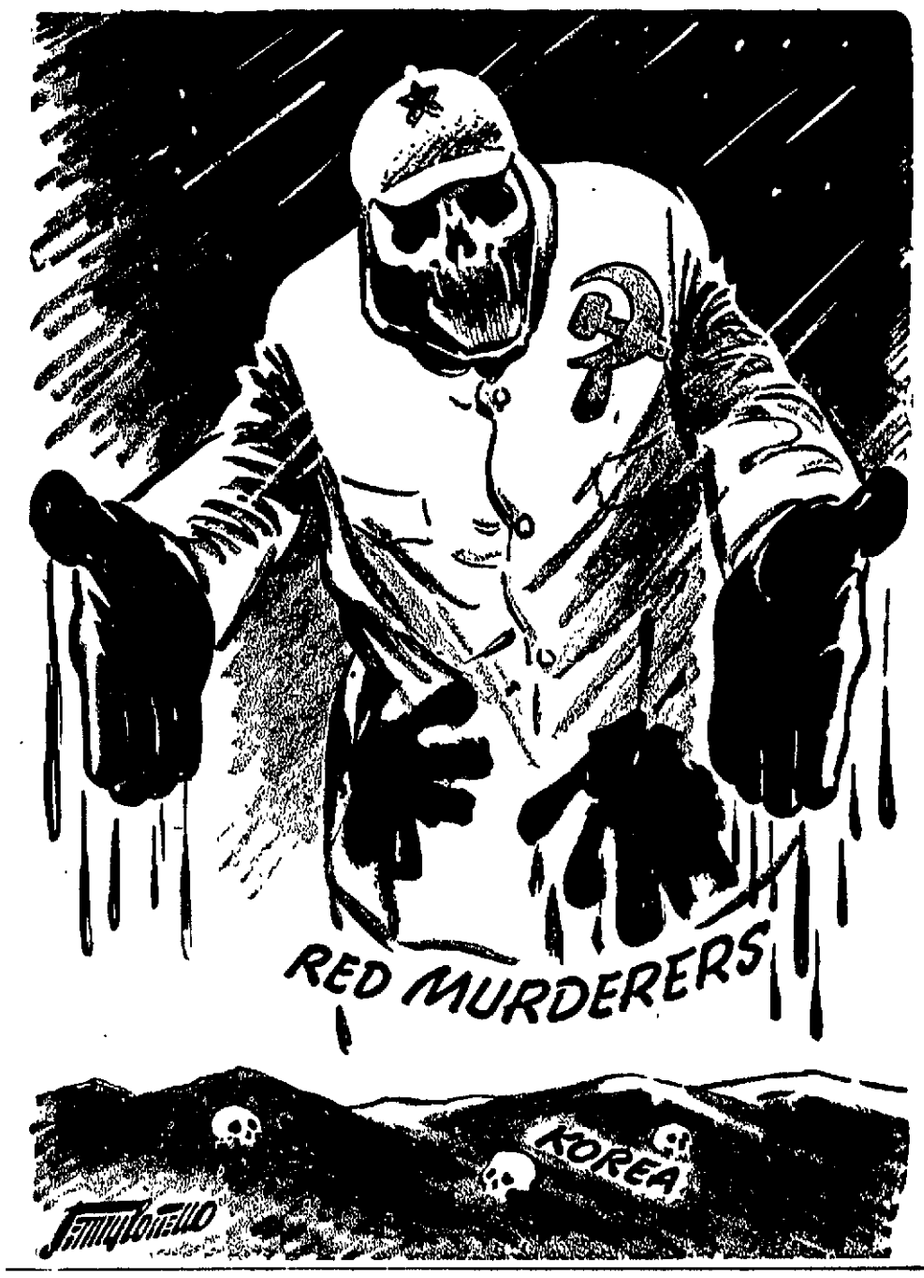
What We're Dealing With



A Strictly Republican View

By George E. Sokolsky

DEMOCRATS, New Dealers, internationalists, and other non-Republicans have for many years been thinking out loud as to what the Republican party should do about its candidates and platforms. Now Harry Truman joins the ranks of Republican advisers.

This time the advice is not likely to be taken, no matter who the candidate is. The pressure from the grass roots is too forceful. Even were General Eisenhower the candidate, he could not prevent a discussion of the foreign policy. He must encounter a convention that will insist upon dealing with the following subjects:

SOKOLSKY

1. The advance of socialism in the United States;
2. Extravagance, waste, dishonesty, and subservience in government;
3. The failure of the American foreign policy in Asia and in Europe and its costliness to the American taxpayer of this and succeeding generations;
4. The failure of the Marshall Plan to build adequately strong allies in western Europe;
5. The failure of the Korean war because of cowardly policies in Washington.

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE to dodge these issues from the Republican standpoint because they control our domestic as well as foreign affairs. The delegates who will attend the Republican convention will come from constituencies which demand that these questions be dealt with. Each delegate will know that he has to face angry men, who will not come to the polls to vote if the issues are dodged. The refusal to vote has become a serious matter for this party.

When President Truman invited Herbert Hoover to head a commission to deal with the problem of the reorganization of the executive branch of the government, it was generally assumed that Truman sincerely intended to save money and increase efficiency. The Hoover Commission did a magnificent job.

The results in the implementation of the Hoover reports are trivial. As soon as the political side of the executive was touched, it reacted with shocking sensitivity. The postoffice department, which is now startlingly inefficient and of decreasing service, responded as though the suggested changes were as subversive as a Communist in the State Department. Similarly, the Agriculture Department and the welfare agencies took on hysterical jerks.

HERBERT HOOVER'S stature in the Republican party in 1951 is very different from what it was in

A Dime's Worth

By TRUMAN TWILL

LIKE other newspaper readers with no choice in the matter, I have been reading what some of the writers miffed because Frank Sinatra recently cold-shouldered the press are saying about him in spite.

They are saying the guy never was so much of a much anyway and couldn't have made his first hundred thousand if they had not plugged him in the papers. They are saying he's an ingrate for turning against them now.

All of which is true.

But if just an ordinary newspaper reader who never did anything for or against Frank Sinatra can put in a dime's worth, there is another side to the situation which no one talks about when some dog bites the hands that have been feeding him.

The indignant owners of the hands invariably assume an aggressive attitude and weep and wail in public because some so-and-so turned out to be a so-and-so in spite of them, which is what they always had feared he might do.

They scribble veiled warnings that he soon will find out that he cannot get along without them, that publicity was the secret of his success; that without publicity he will be just another slobbering bum.

All of which is true, too.

But something else is true, in this newspaper reader's opinion. It is the tendency of people who make their living by writing about people in show business to cultivate pets and ram them down their readers' throats until the readers are gagging.

These hyenas who live on the reflected glamor of the very ordinary people they help to build up with puffery fall into the bad habit of thinking that because they have given away their publishers' space to their pets that the pets owe them everything and they owe the pets nothing.

Bosh! If some of these idol-worshippers didn't have well-known people like Frank Sinatra and the girl he married to fawn on and slobber over they wouldn't be able to make a living. If the idea at this moment is to tell the world that Sinatra is a so-and-so because he was rude to press photographers who horned in on his honeymoon, how about telling the world that if some of these people didn't have Sinatra-style honeymoons to horn in on they would have to go on relief?

As just one little old reader of the press, with an occasional magazine, some radio and a little television thrown in, we get so fed up sometimes with malarkey about the same gang of over-glamorized pets day in and day out, year in and year out, that we get queasy at the mention of their overworked names and threadbare characteristics.

It has been suggested in the Sinatra case that since he has been rude to the fourth estate the fourth estate should ignore him and get even. Hah! What would some of the fourth estaters who are too dead on their feet to chase up some original copy do for a living if anything that drastic happened to their boy Frank? Or to Bing, Bob, Franchot, Toots, Sherman, Ava, Barbara and Shelly?

Can we really count on it, boys, that this is going to be the end of Frankie? No more skinny jokes? No more of that warmed-over rot about bobby-soxers? Can we take a bet on it, fellows, can we, huh?

Reality in Korea

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

FAMILIES with men in Korea should keep their fingers crossed over reports the shooting may end by Christmas. It's possible. It's nice to think of. But it's unlikely.

About this time a year ago we were told the men might be home by Christmas, at least back in Japan. Then Gen. Douglas MacArthur sent his troops up close to the Yalu river.

Then the Chinese entered the war, which has continued since. This was a shock and disappointment to the families here. A look at the realities should avoid a repetition of dashed hopes this time.

James Marlow

For five and a half months representatives of the United Nations tropos and of the North Korean and Chinese Communist troops have been meeting to find some way to end the shooting.

This end to the shooting which has been called various names—cease-fire, armistice, truce—would not necessarily mean an end to the Korean war at all.

For even if they could agree on an armistice, one side or the other, for one reason or another, could end the armistice any time and start the shooting all over again.

EVEN SO THE two sides agreed—and they had to meet many times before they could do even that much—that as a condition to agreement on an armistice they must first get together on four major points.

(Once they had agreed on the four major points, of course, there could be an armistice but they'd have to agree on many other points before anyone could really say there was peace in Korea).

But after five and a half months of meetings the two sides have managed to agree on only one of the four major points which must be agreed upon before there is an armistice.

If it has taken them that long to agree on only one point, it hardly seems possible they can agree on the other major points, all pretty ticklish, before Christmas.

* * *

THIS IS THE ONE point upon which the two sides have agreed to thus far:

If all four points are agreed upon in 30 days, then the shooting will stop, but not until then, along the line where the troops face each other now.

If that agreement isn't reached in 30 days, then the shooting will stop along whatever line the troops face each other when there finally is agreement on the other three points.

Briefly, these are the other three points:

1. Policing or watching. How can each side check on the other to be sure it is not using the armistice to build up its strength for a new attack that would break the armistice? Since the Communists never yet have agreed to let anyone behind their curtain anywhere, the solution of this one doesn't look simple.

2. Exchanging prisoners. This has a whole mine-field of delicate questions, particularly in view of recent U. S. army reports that thousands of American prisoners were killed by the Communists.

3. This one swings around the question: If there is an armistice, do the two sides get their troops out of Korea? This is a beaut, all by itself. Only this week end Secretary of State Acheson and other foreign ministers of the Atlantic Pact nations were reportedly agreed against withdrawing tropos from Korea.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

A Visit from St. Stalinus

Josef Stalin's birthday, it is reported, has been designated to replace Christmas in Communist Hungary. Which set us to thinking of the propaganda line needed to sell people the idea of the Master of the Kremlin as "a right jolly old elf," cruising the Yuletide skies in a sleigh with the hammer and sickle painted on each side, presumably with a commissar astride each reindeer. Through our head kept running "The stockings were hung by the chimney with care in the FEAR that Saint Stalinus soon would be there. . . ." And we continued:

PHILLIPS

The children were nestled (scared stiff) in their beds
With orders to answer all knocks with "We're Reds!"
And mama in her kerchief and I in my hood
Were thinking the visit would do us no good.

* * *

(Then came the part about the clatter on the lawn and the rush to the windows to see what was the matter. We threw this out. With Stalin making the trip there could be no uncertainty. Everybody would know darned well what was the matter behind the clatter, or else.)

The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow
Gave the lustre of searchlights to objects below. . . .
(Objects! Watch your language! Ya wanna go to the salt mines?
Just refer to Joe as an "object below." But to resume):
When what to our wondering eyes should appear
But Josef himself with his Russian reindeer;
I knew in a moment or two it was he,
(If I didn't I knew what would happen to me.)
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came
And to volleys of cannon he called them by name:
"Now, Ivan! Now, Petrov! Now, Igor! Now Pinski!
On, Malik! On Molotov, also Vishinsky! . . .
"To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall,
With hammer and sickle and borscht over all!"

(All went well until we came to the lines "And then in a twinkle I heard on the roof the prancing and pawing of each little hoof." No dice! No footsteps you hear on your roof in Communist territory can be described as prancing. If you go back to bed thinking it's from reindeer you're nuts. So we picked it up from there):

As I fell to my knees and gave welcomes galore,
Down the chimney Saint Stalinus came with a roar;
He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot
And he quickly shot mom for his coating of soot.

(Now came the part "His eyes, how they twinkled! His dimples, how merry!" That had to go. The twinkling eye is for decadent democracies. Behind every merry dimple there is a capitalistic warmonger. But to continue):

He was rugged and strong and a great super-elf
Which I quickly admitted, protecting myself;
A wink of his eye and a twist of his head
Demanded my papers as proof I was "Red";
He spoke not a word but with fierce animation
Pinned onto each stocking a state proclamation;
Then sprang to his sleigh (on each deer sat a gremlin),
And gave the curt order "Fly back to the Kremlin!" . . .
But I heard him exclaim ere he drove out of sight
"Happy Moscow to all! To all others Good Night!"

TEN YEARS AGO—It was Thursday, Nov. 27, 1941.

An employe of the City Ice & Fuel Co. carleing service in the Erie Railroad yards, Ervin Huffman, 67, of 380 Fies Ave., was buried under a mass of salt but was rescued by city firemen after being submerged half an hour. He was uninjured except for bruises and stiffness.

Orin Kruskamp, 37, Erie roundhouse employe, died in City Hospital from injuries suffered Tuesday night when he fell down a stairway at his home, 365½ Silver St.

A son, James Martin, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dickerson of 989 Davids St.

Virgil Eugene Noblit, 18-year-old Marion County youth, whose left arm was crushed to the shoulder when it was caught in a corn-picker in an accident Nov. 18, died in City Hospital. Death was due to complications which developed from the injury.

What was generally regarded as Marion's first drive-in automobile filling station was to be torn down to make way for a new one. The old station stood on the corner of S. Prospect St. and W. Church St., where it had served the public since 1920.

At the annual Harding High School football recognition banquet held in the ballroom at Hotel Harding, Keith Williams was named captain-elect of next year's squad.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—It was Friday, Nov. 27, 1931.

The eleventh safe installed in one company's filling station at Marysville since summer was carried away by burglars. It contained $105. The safe, with door broken open, was found later in a ditch along a country road near Marysville.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Montgomery and children returned to their home in Chicago after a visit with Mrs. Montgomery's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman South of Harding Highway East.

Democratic Committee Lists Costs

The Marion County Board of Elections today announced the Marion County Democratic Executive Committee had filed an expense list for the general election Nov. 6.

Expenditures for the year by the committee were listed at $1,-546.07 while receipts totaled $1,-849.95. A balance was reported from 1950 of $465.33.

Included in the expenditures was $137.72 spent in conducting the campaign of Mrs. Barbara Bingham Norris, Democratic candidate for city auditor. Mrs. Norris filed no report.

The election board also announced receiving a statement of expenses from Tom Clark, who was re-elected city councilman-at-large on the Republican ticket. Mr. Clark reported he had no expenses during his campaign.

Municipal Judge W. Dexter Hazen listed his expenses at $12. He was elected on the non-partisan ticket.

Expenses of other candidates and the Republican party were reported earlier.

Final Rehearsal For "Messiah" Set Sunday

Final rehearsal for the Marion presentation of "The Messiah" will be Sunday at 3 p.m. at Epworth Methodist Church with the guest string ensemble from out of the city and Prof. Rexford Keller of Delaware conducting. The program will be presented Sunday at 8 p.m. in the church.

Attending the practice last Sunday afternoon was the Rev. Ashley Booth, president of the Marion County Ministerial Association, which is backing the annual musical event here. A large chorus of members from church choirs and other music organizations of the city and county this year represents a wide age range in the singers. Mrs. Emma Oborn is a member who has sung in the annual program many years, and singing for the first time are junior high school students.

1940 when the microphones were spiked so that he could not be heard in the convention hall. He has become a beloved figure. When he stands before the convention in Chicago next July, no one will forget how he was kicked around by a crowd of politicians who, one by one, are being proved to have been crooked by committees of Congress chaired by members of their own party.

And it must be remembered that General Douglas MacArthur will address that convention. No combination of internationalists, dominated by New York banks with London affiliations, will be able to keep him off the convention program.

Again the convention in July will be different from that four years ago when a handful of stalwarts insisted upon nominating General MacArthur for the presidency although he remained in Tokyo and avoided political entanglements. This year, he comes, after having moved huge audiences to an acceptance of his moral leadership against an administration which he denounces with singular effectiveness.

NO MATTER who desires that foreign affairs shall not be discussed, it will be impossible to keep out of the Republican convention the effects of the Russell committee investigation into the the dismissal of General MacArthur, which is really an analysis of our far eastern policy, or the investigation of the McCarran committee into the Communist infiltration into government.

Finally what is called McCarthyism is a living factor with Americans. It is the principle that infiltration is a normal Communist method of winning a war without the cost of fighting it. The Democrats and the New York internationalists are devoting themselves to the defeat of Senator McCarthy in Wisconsin. They hope to convince Governor Walter J. Kohler to run against Joe McCarthy in the Republican primaries in Wisconsin.

Should Kohler, whose father was also governor and an extraordinarily wise man, permit himself to be used in this manner, it will not destroy Joe McCarthy. It will engender enough bitterness to make McCarthy a persecuted hero and Kohler an instrument of the persecution.

Most of those who speak eloquently about the Republican party in the press have no contact with its rank and file. They speak from the aloofness of men and women who have helped the party achieve four unnecessary defeats. Their judgments no longer influence active partisans who will be convention delegates.

Church Completes Plans For Celebration

Young people of Epworth Methodist Church and advisors are completing preparations for the 10th anniversary celebration of "Our House," youth center, for Wednesday night. It was announced that tickets for the banquet which will be at 6 in the church dining room are still available. Reservations are to be in at the church office by Wednesday morning.

The program this year will be in keeping with the idea of the 10th year being the "tin anniversary," and the theme will be "Tin Pan Alley Band Parade." Musicians will be the "kindergarteners of 10 years ago." Stanley Moore, first president of the "Our House" board, will be the toastmaster. Miss Nancy Indoe is banquet chairman.

PUCO Studies Phone Rate Hike Request

COLUMBUS, Nov. 27—(AP)—The State Utilities Commission yesterday took under study a request by Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. for an immediate $550,000 rate increase.

Officials of several cities have strongly protested the increase. One of them said it would set a "dynamite-laden" precedent. The company serves 24 counties.

A. C. Schapiro of Portsmouth, an attorney for the company, called it "an application for salvation."

Ohio Consolidated contends the immediate rate increase is necessary so it can get loans for improvements.

A utilities commission hearing is set for next summer on the company's application for a permanent hike of $742,000 a year.

Today's Fashion Flash

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S "complete prohibition on imports" of furs from Soviet-bloc countries will have little effect on the U. S. fashion picture.

A spokesman for the Associated Fur Manufacturers of America said today: "There are only a limited number of furs that come from Russian dominated countries — and most of them are in the super-plush class.

"Sables will be scarce now that import has stopped. But they are in such a high-price bracket that it's doubtful if their scarcity will be noticeably felt."

Clearing up the popular fallacy that most mink comes from Russia, the spokesman added: "90 per cent of the mink sold in the States comes from America. We will have no shortages."

Nor will there be a shortage, he said, in any of the other Soviet-imported furs which have been banned . . . including ermine, fox, kolinsky, marten, muskrat and weasel.

Clark-Hampson Vows Exchanged In Cleveland

OF INTEREST here is the announcemtn of the marriage of Miss Margaret Hale Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Hale Clark of Cleveland, former residents of Marion, and Lt. Thomas M. Hampson, U. S. Air Force. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Hampson of Warren, Pa.

The wedding took place Saturday, Nov. 24, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon in the Lakewood Methodist Church. The ceremony was read by candlelight by the pastor, Dr. Harold F. Carr. Large bouquets of white flowers and lighted candles in candelabra decorated the altar, and marking the family pews were white satin ribbon bows and fern.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported French ivory brocade accented with a chapel train. Her fingertip length veil fell from a tiara of pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a white satin covered prayerbook topped with white carnations and ivy and showered with stephanotis.

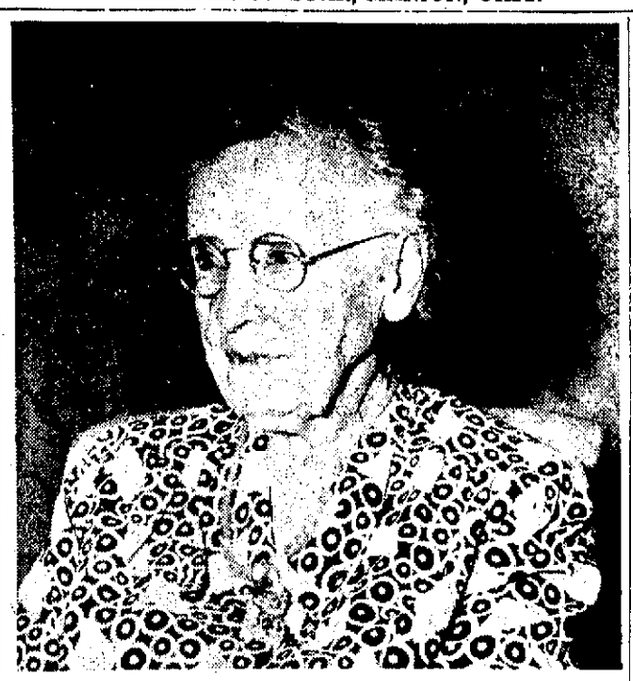
Miss Marta Gale Clark, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She was attired in a gown of embroidered satin in a mauve pink shade and carried a bouquet of bronze mums and pompons tied with brown satin ribbon.

Serving as best man for the bridegroom was his brother, Robert Hampson, and ushers were William P. Taylor of Warren, Pa., and Stuart Minton Jr., of New York City.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Lake Shore Hotel where the receiving line formed before a background of palms and ferns. Bouquets of white snapdragons and pompons decorated the bride's table and the tiered wedding cake was encircled with garlands of carnations and ivy. Later, the couple left on a wedding trip through the south. After Dec. 1, the couple will reside at Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y.

Mrs. Hampson, a graduate of Harding High School with the class of 1946, attended Cornell University and is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority. Lt. Hampson attended Cornell University and the Cornell Law School. At present, he is on active duty with the First Air Force at Mitchell Field, Long Island.

The bride's family moved from Marion to Cleveland in 1948. While in Marion, Mr. Clark was superintendent of the Erie Railroad's Kent Division.



MRS. JONATHAN WILLIAMS OF MARION, a native of Union County, celebrated her 95th birthday anniversary yesterday. She is living at the home of a relative, Mrs. Carrie Harriman of 231 Olney Ave.

Mrs. Williams, Essex Native, Celebrates

95th Birthday Marked By Marion Woman

A Union County native, Mrs. Jonathan Williams, now living in Marion, was 95 years old yesterday. She was born in Essex near Richwood on Nov. 26, 1856. She lived in Essex all her life until this year, when she came to Marion.

She was married in Marysville in 1874 to Jonathan Williams, a carpenter by trade. The couple lived all their life in Essex. Mr. Williams died Jan. 28, 1928.

Mrs. Williams is now living in Marion at the home of a relative, Mrs. Carrie Harriman of 231 Olney Ave. She ordinarily lives with her daughter, Mrs. Lucy Harriman of Essex, but Mrs. Harriman, now 77 years old, is spending the winter with her daughter in Battle Creek, Mich.

Distantly Related

Mrs. Carrie Harriman and Mrs. Williams are distantly related by marriage. Mrs. Williams plans to go back to Essex to live with her daughter in April.

Mrs. Williams was a housewife until the death of her husband in 1928. Then she made hooked rugs, did sewing for other people and many odd jobs to support herself. She now receives an old age pension.

She is a member of the Essex Methodist Church but has not been able to attend church for several years because she is partially blind and deaf. She seldom missed a church service for many years. She was the daughter of Albert and Nancy Dysart White.

14 Descendants

She has one daughter, three grandchildren, four great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchildren. All except her daughter live in Battle Creek, Mich.

Mrs. Williams has been in good health lately. She had been ill on several occasions in the last few years.

Two Collisions In City Traffic

Minor damage was reported when cars driven by Mrs. J. K. Rutherford of 263 Summit St. and Craig Stansbury, 31, of 690 Florence St. collided on E. Church St. at 11:57 a.m. Monday.

A car driven by James Raymond Stahl, 56, of 547 S. Main St., stopped in the line of traffic at Church St. and S. Main St., was struck by a car driven by William M. Honaker, 72, of 144½ E. Farming St. at 4:25 p.m. Monday. Police reported minor damage to both cars.

PHILADELPHIA — (UP) — A former Philadelphia business man remembered an old friend in his will, which was admitted to probate in New Jersey. The friend has four legs and a saddle and answers to the name of Nifty.

Charles H. Goodwin left an estate estimated at $60,000 for probate purposes. The horse was remembered to the extent of "such sums as may be necessary to maintain him." Nifty is now 27 years old and served his master for two decades.

Along with some 30 other horses, Nifty is housed at a farm. He still grazes in the fields daily, although his teeth are in poor condition.

Old Drivers Blamed For Most Accidents

CHICAGO —(UP)— Inexperienced drivers are far safer than those who've been at it a long time, a Chicago Park District survey shows.

Drivers with less than a year's experience were responsible for only 28, or 1 per cent of the 2,424 traffic accidents in the Chicago area in one month, the survey revealed. Drivers with between 10 and 30 years experience were the cause of 1,077 or about 44 per cent of the accidents.

Revolutionary New Fabrics Fill Markets

By Dorothy ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

IS IT animal, vegetable or mineral?

The old game of Twenty Questions is up against some tough sledding in the new fabrics that are on the market today. A generation ago the answers were simple. Most fabrics were either cotton or linen (vegetable) or wool or silk (animal).

But now we have clothing, upholstery fabrics, automobile tops and tires, awnings and outdoor furniture covers that are none of these. They are members of the vast new family of synthetics which are changing our way of life faster than we think.

The woman goes shopping in the new wonderland of miracle fabrics, with the purpose of getting the most for her shrinking dollar, needs to be fully informed as to the specific advantages of each.

The man-made fibers are getting more and more wonderful—but they are arriving on the market so fast that most average shoppers are confused as to which is which and why.

MOST WOMEN ARE familiar with the first of the synthetic fabrics, rayon, used in a great percentage of feminine apparel. But many do not know the difference between its two forms——viscose and acetate. Viscose rayon, the first to be evolved from chemists' test tubes, is sturdy and tough, can be laundered almost as casually as cotton, does not melt under ironing.

Acetate rayon, introduced shortly after the stock market crash of 1929, is a more luxurious fabric in drape and appearance, requires greater care in handling. A move is now under way to require specific labeling of rayon fabrics as "viscose" or "acetate" or a blend of both, for consumer guidance in correct cleaning and care of garments.

NEXT AND MOST senational of the synthetic fibers was nylon, which was introduced late in 1938 and since has revolutionized the stocking and lingerie market. Because of its great strength and quick-drying properties, nylon has become a staple wardrobe item in most American homes. Nylon stockings have replaced silk almost entirely, and most women have a wide range of nylon wearables, including nightgowns, slips, girdles, bras and blouses.

However, there were some points in which nylon was found lacking. Nylon curtains were found to shrink or stretch according to weather conditions. It did not stand exposure to sunlight well.

So the chemists got to work and produced a new fiber, orlon, which had many of nylon's favorable characteristics and in addition stood up under all kinds of adverse weather conditions. Orlon has greater absorbency than nylon, a softer feel and is impervious to humidity changes. It is used for a great variety of outdoor fabrics, one of the most important of which is automobile tops. Orlon is said to be the first fabric used in an automobile top which will last for the life of the car. It also is used in curtains and in experimental quantities in clothing.

NEWEST of the synthetic family is dacron, which promises to give men a new freedom from cleaner's bills. This man-made fiber, on the market now in small quantities, is used in men's suits and blends, in women's blouses and other wearing apparel. Its greatest value, in addition to quick drying and easy laundering, is its ability to shed wrikles.

Men's suits of dacron have been submerged in a swimming pool, dried, and then worn without pressing, looking as fresh and smooth as if they had just come from the tailor.

Still other synthetic fibers are still in the test tubes. Newest of all is Du Pont's "Fiber E," a firm of viscose rayon which will be used for upholstery and rugs, is impervious to moths, resistant to wear and weather and promises new fields of usefulness.

* * *

SO WHEN YOU go shopping, read the fabric labels well and remember what they mean: viscose rayon, for sturdy wear; acetate, for luxury fabric, to be handled with care; nylon, for quick-drying and resistance to abrasion; orlon, for weather resistance; dacron, for crease resistance; "fiber E," for long-wearing upholstery and rugs.

A Foreign Policy For Americans

By Senator Robert A. Taft

CHAPTER 11

The Russian Menace. How Do We Meet It in the Far East?

(Part 2)

ONCE it became apparent that the policy of punishing aggression could not be carried through there was some logical argument for entirely evacuating Korea. But having gone into Korea, having suffered more than a hundred thousand casualties, it seems obvious to me that we could not withdraw. Such a withdrawal would be interpreted throughout Asia not only as a political defeat but also as a military defeat.

SENATOR TAFT

Since it was impossible to invade China, the best solution would have been to drive the Chinese out of Korea, to ask the United Nations to set up a Korean Republic, to maintain our troops there for some time and then arm the Koreans with weapons which would enable them to stand against Chinese attack, and to give them such economic and arms aid in peace and military aid from the sea and air in war as we might be able to afford.

The administration, however, refused to use the various measures suggested by General MacArthur as a means of conquering all of Korea and setting up an independent Republic under the protection of the United Nations. Their only proposal was a more or less endless war in which we would advance to the Thirty-eighth Parallel but would not attempt to go beyond that point to any material extent. Such a stalemate accomplished no purpose, except to eliminate the idea that we had suffered a military defeat.

Only Other Policy

The only other policy under consideration, prior of the Malik proposal for an armistice, was the negotiating of an armistice with the North Koreans and the Chinese Communists, the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea, and the discussion of the questions of Formosa and the admission of Chinese Communists to the United Nations and to the negotiations on the Japanese Peace Treaty.

Such a settlement, I believe, would be very much worse even than an unconditional withdrawal from Korea, but the State Department at one time approved it. In January, 1951 the secretary of state agreed to the cease-fire plan approved by the United Nations political committee. That cease-fire plan provided, first, for a truce. Then it provided:

"To permit the carrying out of the General Assembly resolution that Korea should be a unified, independent, democratic, sovereign state with a constitution and a government based on free popular elections, all non-Korean armed forces will be withdrawn, by appropriate stages, from Korea, and appropriate arrangements, in accordance with United Nations principles, will be made for the Korean people to express their own free will in respect to their future government."

The withdrawal of all non-Korean forces from Korea under the conditions existing there would, in my opinion, mean the communization of Korea. The Russians do not care what they do underground. They do not regard their promises. Our effort in a Korean election of that kind would be completely swamped by Communist machinations. If effect, to agree to that is to agree to a Communist machinations. In effect, to Korea.

China in the U. N.

Then, even more important, there was contained in the agreement the following:

"As soon as the agreement has been reached on a cease-fire, the General Assembly shall set up an appropriate body which shall include representatives of the governments of the United Kingdom, the United States of America, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, and the People's Republic of China with a view to the achievement of a settlement, in conformity with existing international obligations and provisions of the United Nations Charter, of far-eastern problems, including among others, those of Formosa, and of representation of China in the United Nations."

Thus, as late as January, 1951, the secretary of state agreed that we would sit down with England, with Communist China itself, with the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, all three of them urging upon us appeasement peace, and that there would be completely excluded from the conference Nationalist China, the recognized Government of China, which has a seat in the Security Council today. That was equivalent to saying, "We are willing to give up Formosa. We are willing to have Communist China admitted to the United Nations."

It was fortunate indeed that Communist China declined to accept that cease-fire proposal. The Department of State came out with the naive statement that it had agreed to the proposal because it felt all the time that Communist China probably would not accept it and so it would give us a certain practical advantage with the United Nations.

Support for Chiang

At the time of writing, the military commanders are negotiating an armistice. Certainly it is better to maintain an uneasy peace on the 38th Parallel than a policy of perpetual war on the 28th Parallel. But an armistice is likely to leave us in approximately the same position we were in two years ago, before we moved American troops out of South Korea, except that we would have to put up billions of dollars to repair the destruction in South Korea.

Regardless of the matter of an armistice, if we really believe in a policy of containing communism there is no logical reason why we should not give 100 per cent support to the Chinese Nationalist Government on Formosa and reject any idea whatever of a compromise on this issue. There is no reason why we should agree to the admission of the Chinese Communists to the United Nations or to the negotiations with Japan for a permanent peace. It would be far better to withdraw without condition from Korea itself, without compromising ourselves on these other issues, than to follow the general proposals along the line of those made by the United Nations in January 1951.

It has been suggested that there is a fundamental issue between those who think that Europe is more important and those who think that Asia is more important. Certainly my position is not an extreme one on the subject of Asia.

We Hampered China

Broadly speaking, my quarrel is with those who wish to go all-out in Europe, even beyond our capacity, and what at the same time refuse to apply our general program and strategy to the Far East.

In Greece we moved in with overwhelming support for the Greek Government, even though it at first had strong reactionary tendencies. We gave it hundreds of millions of dollars to suppress Communists within the country.

But in China we hampered the Nationalist Government. We tried to force it to take Communists into the Cabinet. The State Department spoke of Communists as agrarian reformers and cut off arms from the Nationalist Government at the most crucial time. Contrary to the whole theory of the containment of communism, where it could be done without serious cost or danger, the Administration proposed to surrender Formosa to the Communists and has constantly flirted with that idea.

Even though we were engaged in a bitter and dangerous war, the Administration refused to fight that war with all the means at its command, on the theory that we might incite Russia to start a third world war. But in Europe we have not hesitated to risk a third world war over and over again.

Constant Danger of War

I think we have to recognize that the policy we have adopted of the containment of communism involves a constant danger that Russia may begin a third world war. But it is beyond our capacity to invade China with American soldiers, and such a program is not included in MacArthur's suggestions or anyone else's. There is no possible threat to Siberia, therefore, from anything we may do in China.

On the other hand, in Europe the building up of a great army surrounding Russia from Norway to Turkey and Iran might produce a fear of the invasion of Russia or some of the satellite countries regarded by Russia as essential to the defense of Moscow.

Certainly our program in Europe seems to me far more likely to produce war with Russia than anything we have done in the East. I am only asking for the same policy in the Far East as in Europe.
